80-MILE HURRICANE HOWLS THROUGH THE CITY AND COUNTY YESTERDAY IN AREA'S WORST STORM

Nearly 250 Persons Reported Dead in 5 Middle Atlantic States

Many Persons Missing, Rise in Deaths Feared

Property Loss Runs Into Untold Millions of Dollars in Wake of Northeast's Worst Storm in Century—Fire and Flood Add to Misery and Destruction Over Wide Area

Long Island Havoc

Most Tragic Blows Dealt on South Shore of Long Island; 18 Dead, 100 Missing

(By The Associated Press)

The ever-lengthening roster of the dead from an equinoctial hurricane which struck the North Atlantic States with a swiftness unequalled in a hundred years neared the 250 mark today—and still the tragic figures mounted.

The damage to property—to hundreds of smashed boats, to growing or maturing crops, to homes, utilities, public buildings, transportation and communication—was beyond calculation, rising to untold millions of dollars. How many thousands were homeless could not even be guessed.

Many thousands of men and women in the great area of disaster—troops, police, coast guardsmen, naval reservists, Red Cross workers, Boy Scouts—were called to the work of rescue.

Swirling up from the south, the hurricane swept in from the sea yesterday, smashing shipping and shore resorts with waves lashed to tidal power, and roared on into Canada.

The 100-mile-an-hour gale dealt its most tragic blows along Long Island's fashionable south shore, where at least 18 persons were dead and a hundred missing, and in flood-hit Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. It left its mark also on New Jersey, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The storm flooded hundreds of miles of rich farm lands, ripped out bridges, railroads and highways, demolished buildings, sank ships, destroyed livestock, tore down telephone and light wires and left scores of communities isolated in chaos and fear.

Volunteer workers "trooped" yesterday tasks to search debris for bodies of missing victims or rescue residents marooned by floods. Red Cross authorities mobilized their forces to feed and comfort hysterical refugees.

Coast guard headquarters in Washington dispatched 2,500 men and stores of cutters to the storm scene. The coast guard estimated between 500 and 700 small fishing and pleasure craft had been sunk or driven ashore.

Two Are Drowned In Dutchess When Rescue Boat Tips

Astoria Girl and Pleasant Valley Fireman Are Victims During Rescue Attempt Outside Poughkeepsie

(By The Associated Press)

Dutchess county counts two deaths today as the result of yesterday's hurricane and flood waters.

Miss Caroline Ferguson, 21, of Astoria, L. I., a Miss Larkin, a fireman of Pleasant Valley township, is dead as the result of drowning in swollen Wappingers Creek.

The tragedy occurred while a group of Pleasant Valley firemen were attempting to rescue Miss Ferguson, who apparently is drowned, and Miss Ruth Keefe, also of Astoria.

The two young women were in the vicinity of Creek road, four miles northeast of Poughkeepsie, and were marooned. The firemen manned a boat and endeavored to take the young women to safety.

Midway in the turbulent creek the craft overturned and both Miss Ferguson and Mr. Larkin were swept away.

Miss Keefe was rescued this morning from the top of a tree into which she had climbed after the boat upset.

Larkin's body was found today and a search is still underway for that of Miss Ferguson.

Poughkeepsie Hard Hit

The storm broke over Poughkeepsie at approximately the same time it hit Kingston. Communications and utilities were disrupted, the damage to municipal and properties was very great.

All outlying districts were dealt a severe blow and the extent of the havoc has not been estimated fully, although it is thought in the county as a whole the loss will run close to a million dollars.

Czechs Moving Toward Strong Militaristic Rule

Nation's Anger Over Imminent Loss of Sudeten Areas Prompts Movement to Place General Syrovsky at Head of New Regime—Chamberlain and Hitler Meet at Godesberg to Seal Anglo-French Bargain

Air Chief Killed

(By The Associated Press)

Czechoslovakia's anger over the imminent loss of her Sudeten areas moved her today toward formation of a strong military government while Neville Chamberlain and Adolf Hitler met on the Rhine to seal the bargain of which Prague's loss is part of the price.

General Jan Syrovsky, 50-year-old inspector general of the army, emerged as the almost certain head of a new regime in Prague, to replace the cabinet of Milan Hodza, which resigned in face of a rising tide of indignation over its capitulation to Britain and France.

There was speculation whether the new regime would approve the Hodza surrender. Meanwhile the Czechoslovak army continued in a state of preparedness.

The prime minister of Britain and the German fuhrer held their second fateful conference within a week in a second-floor room of the Hotel Dreesen at Godesberg on the Rhine.

Chamberlain was represented as hopeful of a peaceful general European settlement, but there were ominous reports that the German leader, flushed with the greatest diplomatic victory of his career, had raised his price for peace.

There were doubts whether the capitulation of the Prague government yesterday now would be enough.

DNB, the official German news agency, reported some killed and wounded in clashes in border villages where Germans and jubilant Sudeteners were celebrating the imminent cessation of Sudetenland to the Reich. A minor clash also was reported from the Polish-Czechoslovak frontiers.

Elsewhere these developments kept Europe's pot of trouble boiling.

London—Former Premier Earl Baldwin made a surprise visit to King George VI. Baldwin, in a letter to the king, was extremely friendly with Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary, who broke with Chamberlain over the prime minister's "deal with dictators" policy.

Prague—The government of Premier Milan Hodza, in the face of nationwide resentment against his surrender at the behest of Britain and France, offered its resignation. It was not immediately accepted but President Eduard Benes heard many demands that the Czechoslovak army be given a larger voice in the nation's policies.

Paris—Premier Daladier was faced with a revolt in his cabinet over his momentous deal with Chamberlain and Hitler.

Berlin—The controlled German press indicated that Hitler's raised price might include demands for the resignation of Czechoslovak President Benes.

3 Probes Begin In Westover Death

President Sends Condolences to General's Widow—Witnesses Tell of Crash

(By The Associated Press)

Burbank, Calif., Sept. 22 (AP)—The deaths of Major General Oscar Westover, United States army air corps chief, and his personal pilot, Sergeant Sam Hynes, in a power-slip of their attack plane yesterday afternoon, became the subject today of three inquiries.

An Brigadier General H. H. Arnold assumed the title of acting chief of the air corps, an army board of inquiry, headed by Lieut. Col. Harvey S. Burwell, commander of the 19th bombardment group, was named to investigate the cause of the crash which brought flaming death to the pair.

President Roosevelt in Washington sent his condolences to the general's widow.

Witnesses said they noticed the plane flying low for a landing. Suddenly it appeared to make a move to climb. Then it went into a spin from a height of about 150 feet, plunging with terrific impact into a house and setting it afire.

A maid and a landress employed on the summer estate of W. O. Taylor, publisher of the Boston Globe, drowned when a wall of water washed up from the usually-quiet Buttermilk Bay. They were identified as Rose Collins, 32, and Mrs. John May.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and two guests, the Misses Miller and McKay, escaped.

Three coast guardsmen and two civilians, none of them immediately identified, lost their lives at Woods Hole.

Falmouth police reported five men and two women as missing and expressed fear that some of them had been carried out to sea in their homes and drowned. Police officers reported the tidal wave had caused the chief damage.

The town of Wareham counted at least four dead. The identity of all remained uncertain as relief workers, national guardsmen, and residents pushed the work of restoring the community. The dead included a mother and her daughter, whose bodies were found together, and two men.

Nominated

(By The Associated Press)

Leverett Saltonstall, (above) socially prominent former speaker of the Massachusetts house, won by a landslide in the Republican gubernatorial primary. His Democratic opponent will be former Gov. James M. Curley.

John Quincy of Marlborough stated that in the Quincy orchards, a large number of apples were completely stripped from the trees and he placed the loss at later varieties at from 25 to 30 per cent.

In addition to the apples which were stripped from the trees Mr. Quincy said that there would be a considerable amount of damage to fruit which remained on the trees through bruises which would hamper the keeping of the varieties.

In many places where the orchards were not exposed the fruit was not stripped from the trees but the high wind buffeted the crop about to such an extent that the loss will be considerable through bruised and damaged crop.

While the wind was quite general throughout the county, it was reported very severe along the river with some of the outlying districts less affected. At Ellenville a high wind was reported but nothing out of the ordinary and when Ellenville residents reported last evening to their families that they were unable to get home because of the blocked highways surprise was expressed, since the town of Wawarsing apparently was not hard hit.

Storm Center Over Hudson

The storm center appeared to be over the Hudson river section and did not extend up into the mountains beyond Boiceville. Stone Ridge was hard hit but beyond the Krumville road damage was far less. In Rosendale the damage by wind was slight, although the village suffered from water damage when the Rondout

Merchants Ready For Fall Opening Display Tonight

Annual Affair Will Be Held President Rowe Announces; Large Crowd Expected as Weather Clears

The big fall opening display and entertainment program of the merchants of the Kingston Business Men's Association will go on tonight as scheduled. President James L. Rowe of the association said this morning. Entry blank coupon for the essay contest will be found on Page 13 of this issue of The Freeman.

With clear skies after the devastating storm of last night, street cleaners of debris and county highways that had been blocked by fallen trees, once again opened to travel, there was but one point that needed clearing up. Could the men of the department of public works find time to erect the platform on Wall street so that the program arranged could be given?

Mayor Heiselman this morning assured Mr. Rowe that it could and would be done although every man in the city departments has been hard pressed to meet with the demands imposed because of the storm.

Tropical Storm Effects Worst Havoc In Uptown Section of City; County Fruit Belt Suffers 30 Per Cent Loss

Power Failures

Many County Communities Isolated Houses Pass Long Hours Awaiting Repairs

The tail end of the West Indian hurricane which whipped Ulster county Wednesday afternoon has done thousands of dollars of damage to Ulster county fruit crops.

This morning Albert W. Kurdt, manager of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, was unable in the face of incomplete returns from the county to fix any estimate of the damage but he estimated that the apple and pear crop was very badly damaged. Apples were reported from 20 per cent to 30 per cent lost with early varieties which had not been picked at close to a total loss.

Many fruit growers had early varieties of apples picked but there remained some McIntosh, Greenings and other early fall varieties on the trees in many orchards and in most instances these varieties were reported completely blown off.

John Quimby of Marlborough stated that in the Quimby orchards, a large number of apples were completely stripped from the trees and he placed the loss at later varieties at from 25 to 30 per cent.

In addition to the apples which were stripped from the trees Mr. Kurdt said that there would be a considerable amount of damage to fruit which remained on the trees through bruises which would hamper the keeping of the varieties.

In many places where the orchards were not exposed the fruit was not stripped from the trees but the high wind buffeted the crop about to such an extent that the loss will be considerable through bruised and damaged crop.

Emergency Crews Aid Eastern Part Of State Today

Many Flooded Areas Receive Help From Volunteers as Streams Are Swollen by Four-Day Rains

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—Emergency relief crews aided storm and flood stricken residents of eastern New York today after a four-day rain had caused floods and widespread property damage.

With auto police standing by for possible emergency flood service, volunteers were called into service to remove residents from many flooded areas throughout the section.

The weather forecast, however, brought hope and early relief. The weather bureau forecast clearing skies today.

Streams overflowed their banks and sent waters rushing through the streets of many cities and villages, isolating several smaller communities and causing landslides that blocked many state highways.

More than 50 persons were removed from their homes in Mohawk, along the Mohawk river, where water four feet deep ran through the streets.

The village of Frankfort was partly flooded by the overflow from the Minnow and Elmer creeks and American Legionnaires aided volunteer firemen in removing families from homes in the stricken areas.

The south side of Herkimer was inundated and highway conditions in Herkimer county were reported as particularly bad. Numerous washouts were reported.

Three trainmen were injured, one seriously, when an eastbound New York, New Haven and Hartford freight train was derailed near Highland by a fallen tree.

Power and telephone company officials worked on an emergency basis to restore service in many sections.

Trucks were closed on the Hargis Canal between Ulster and Waterford and on its Champlain division. The waters of Lake Champlain at Whitehall were two feet above normal.

The village of Walton in Dutchess county was isolated by flood waters and all communication lines were out of order. Reporters attempting to reach the village were blocked by flooded highways.

Storm King highway was closed to motorists by rockslides on the Storm King Mountain and another

City in Darkness

Householders Without Electricity, Streets Unlighted as Result of Storm's Ravages

Howling destruction rode throughout the city yesterday afternoon when an 80-mile-an-hour tropical hurricane swept in from the Atlantic coast between 5 and 6 o'clock.

The storm, which probably is the worst in the city's history, left in its wake close to 700 uprooted trees, the police estimate, and an unprecedented tangle of electric light and telephone wires.

Widespread damage was done to houses, garages, and business properties, as well as automobiles.

The greatest damage was done in the uptown section of the city from the Pearl-street zone out along Washington avenue to the city limits.

A remarkable feature of the storm was the fact that no one was reported killed or injured in the city.

The official city records show a rainfall of 2.55 inches from 9 o'clock Wednesday morning until midnight.

No attempt has been made to estimate the amount of property damage caused. The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. and the New York Telephone Co. have been too busy repairing the ravages caused by the hurricane even to attempt an estimate of the damage.

The storm completely paralyzed the life of the city. Householders were forced to use kerosene oil lamps and candles for illumination during the evening, and auto traffic was stalled by fallen trees.

The Board of Public Works had every available man and truck at work during the night and it was about 12:30 o'clock this morning before all of the streets were passable and could be used in emergency calls by the fire department.

The police department roughly estimated that fully 150 trees had been blown down by the hurricane, and this did not include the large number of trees uprooted on private property.

Uptown Badly Hit

Officials of the Central Gas & Electric Corp. said that in Kingston the most severe damage appeared to have centered in the uptown section commencing at Foxhall avenue and working up to the uptown residential sections, Pearl street, from Washington avenue out, was said to have been the most badly blocked by fallen trees.

The Main street and Pearl street vicinities were the most badly hit, although all street lights were out during the night, as well as the house lighting circuits.

Two-Party State Conventions Hinge on Dewey Nomination

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—Republican and Democratic leaders in New York shaped plans today for nominating state tickets at conventions next week on the assumption Manhattan's youthful prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey will be the Republican gubernatorial nominee.

Republican chieftains said they had virtually abandoned thought of advancing any person except the 36-year-old racket-busting district attorney on the theory his chances for election were strengthened rather than weakened by the mistrial in the James J. Hines case.

Democrats hoped they could prevail upon Governor Herbert H. Lehman to seek a fourth term since they view him as the strongest opponent for the man he appointed as a special prosecutor in 1935.

Falling in this, the leaders made no secret of the fact they would attempt to induce U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner to run.

Besides choosing candidates for the state's first four-term governor, each of the major parties must nominate a lieutenant governor, state comptroller, attorney general, two United States senators, and two congressmen-at-large.

The Dewey-for-governor movement received emphasis this week with an announcement that the young Republican Clubs of New York state would fight for his nomination and the disclosure that Westchester county's bloc of 114 delegates—second in size only to Erie in upstate New York—would vote solidly for the prosecutor.

Other state ticket choices discussed by Republican leaders include State Assemblyman James J. Wadsworth of Livingston county, State Senator Frederick H. Bontecou of Poughkeepsie and State Regent John Lord O'Brien of Buffalo, a former state assemblyman, for lieutenant governor.

Central Hudson officials stated that the storm swept the entire mid-Hudson river valley, and that every section in Ulster county had been affected.

Scout Campaign Plans Progress

The plans and preparations for the coming annual Boy Scout finance campaign are progressing rapidly throughout the two counties. This announcement was made this morning by Dr. H. W. Keator, general chairman.

The seven district chairmen selected are as follows: Northern District, Dr. J. F. Redmond; Mountain District, Fred Penrose; Western District, R. H. Every; Saugerties District, John C. Sauer; Kingston District, Eugene A. Freer; Southern District, Peter Harp; Rondout Valley District, Leland Pulling.

Most of the local chairmen have been secured and will be announced within a day or two. Chairman Keator also announced that the plans have been completed for the opening meeting of the men of all of Greene county to take place in the Saugerties Hotel, Catskill, on Friday night, September 30. The workers of the Southern District will meet at New Paltz on Thursday night, September 29, and all workers of the Rondout Valley will meet on Saturday night, October 1. The other district meetings will be announced very shortly. At each of these meetings full information will be given to the many workers.

The general chairman and his aides announced today the various goals throughout the territory. The goals this year are subscription goals and are as follows: Mountain District, 480; Northern District, 940; Western District, 245; Saugerties District, 595; Kingston District, 1,485; Southern District, 675; Rondout Valley District, 390.

It is the hope of the committee in charge that every community will at least reach the number of subscriptions it has accepted as their goal and if that is done Dr. Keator said it will be sure the necessary budget for the ensuing year would be reached.

Throughout the two counties of Ulster and Greene most of the schools are conducting a poster contest in which hundreds of school children are participating. Each local community has its own contest in its own school. Prizes are being awarded to the three best posters. These awards will be made during the first week of October. The winners of each community will then be taken into the District where the first three winners of the District are selected and prizes awarded. The winners of each district will then be taken into the Boy Scout headquarters early in November where a committee will judge the finals for the two counties.

The schools throughout the area have full information regarding the contest and word has been received that all of the leading schools and many of the small schools throughout the area are participating.

ACCORD. Accord, Sept. 22.—Miss Alice Querry and Mrs. Margaret Hansen, both of Detroit, Mich., have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Brooks and family.

Miss Anna Schoonmaker spent last week-end at the home of Mrs. A. L. Sabler.

The Patron Grange will hold a Booster night, in the Reformed Church basement on Monday evening, September 26. A pot luck supper will be served at 7 p. m. The public is invited. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davenport are enjoying a hunting trip to New Brunswick, Canada. The Rondout Valley Sunday School Association Convention will be held in the Methodist Church at Stone Ridge, on October 14 at 7:45 p. m. The Rev. Olney E. Cook, of Ellenville, will deliver the main address and the Rev. M. O. Bennett, of Nanapanoch, will give the Junior address. The Leadership Training School of the Rondout Sunday School Association will start their sessions in the Lutheran Church at Ellenville, on Monday, October 3, at 7:30 p. m. A chicken supper will be served in the Rochester Reformed Church basement on Wednesday, October 12 at 5 p. m.

Southwest's "Kiva" Closely Guarded "Kiva" is the name given to the secret ceremonial chamber which from prehistoric times has been the most important feature of every Indian pueblo in the Southwest. At least a score of pueblos, or villages, occupied by the descendants of the "hohokam," "those who have vanished," flourish in New Mexico. In each the kiva is scrupulously guarded from white visitors. Caucasians have access, however, to the ancient kivas in the prehistoric ruins of the Southwest.

REASON AND MADNESS

In an effort to effect some sort of peace, however transitory, in its negotiations with Adolf Hitler, Britain has been slow and reasonable. But the dictator who rules with an iron hand the German Reich is not slow and reasonable. He got his power through swift, underhand action. He believes in the power and responsibility of one man as the only right form of government, and he believes that in the Reich he is that man.

Hitler, therefore, must be taken alone as representative of German power. He is subject to persecution mania, to delusions of grandeur. He uses low cunning to mold a people to his will, and then, in his book, brags about his power thus to mold them. He believes he has a divine mission to make the German State supreme.

These are the two forms of thought which have been trying to get together. Or rather, it is Hitler's form of thought with which Britain's has been trying to get together. Hitler doesn't try to get together with anybody. He doesn't believe there is either right or necessity for him in that direction. He believes he merely has to state his position and the world will accept it.

Britain is trying to avoid the horrors of war for everybody. The horrors of war mean nothing to Hitler. Using quiet and time to soften the mind of a person or a nation in a fit of temper is always good business. It induces the normal mood of reason with which reason may cooperate to work a plan. But trying to use the methods which affect reasonable people in the present instance looks futile. Trying to reason with Hitler about the peace of the world is—well, it just doesn't seem reasonable!

DIPLOMATIC FALLACY

The people of the Netherlands are practical. Doubtless that is why observers there accepted promptly the idea that annexation of the Sudeten region by Germany was only a matter of time. The attitude, as revealed in press comment in Holland, seems almost hard-boiled. If this outcome is inevitable the sooner the fatal amputation is performed the better.

They sympathize with the Prague government, but they take a detached and dispassionate view of the situation. What is happening to Czechoslovakia, they think, may help to end certain illusions—the value of alliances and the seductive power of democracy—which the Netherlands at least will not regret.

Independence, they say, is only safely founded on economic and political realities. Defensive or offensive alliances are chiefly trouble-makers.

The Dutch may be right. Balance of power may be outmoded as an international policy for either war or peace.

Balance of military power is certainly an outworn idea inherited from an older world. Economic power is the need of today. And it is based not on competition in arms but on cooperation in peace.

LEARNING LANGUAGES

High school children, and some parents, may be interested in a remarkable method of teaching foreign languages undertaken experimentally in the New York school system. According to Dr. Theodore Huebener, acting director:

Instead of emphasizing grammar, the teacher will try to make foreign languages interesting. There will be music, games and literature introduced. The "approach will be sympathetic."

Thus pupils will "collect and organize illustrative material, prepare scrapbooks, models and collections, develop projects planned by the class and the teacher, read books in English on the foreign land, consult books of reference and write English reports on their reading."

Dr. Huebener lays down these rules: "Don't drill paradigms; don't translate English into the foreign language; don't stress rules and exceptions; don't use technical grammatical explanations; don't interrupt a pupil to make a correction." It will doubtless be interesting, and the pupils will learn a good deal about foreign countries. But will they learn the languages? American students nearly always have difficulties with foreign tongues. Boys and girls abroad seem to master them with much less trouble. Do they use any such elaborate system as this, or just go to work and learn them?

TINY STEEL MILL

American industry is not merely standing pat or waiting for a "break." It is engaged in a great deal of practical research and experimentation, which will reveal itself and probably justify its results as economic revival proceeds. And in many ways it will doubtless help such revival.

One of the most interesting examples is the miniature steel mill built by the research staff of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation in Pittsburgh. This mill, just finished, and complete with open-hearth furnace, rolling mills and steam hammers, is an experiment in technical control of modern steel-production methods. It can be operated, and its operations studied, without great expense, because of its size and compactness. Its furnace, for instance, has a capacity of only 1,500 pounds, instead of the 300-ton capacity of the normal modern plant in this country. Materials and methods can be varied rapidly and inexpensively. It can apply and test the ideas of metallurgists in a time when revolutionary discoveries and changes are being made.

Such practical procedure should soon put American steel manufacture, which already leads the world, far ahead of any other country. The same procedure can be applied, and probably is, in some of our other important industries, although little is said about it.

Hitler has to rescue those Sudeten Germans because they're abused. Of course the Nazis have never abused any minorities.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act. USES OF COD LIVER OIL

The taking of cod liver oil to build up resistance to colds and other infections is now a well established custom in many families and preparatory schools. This is especially true during the days when there is not much sunshine. Cod liver oil is sometimes called "bottled sunshine."

A few years ago surgeons found in old injuries to bone, where infection was present, scraping away the dead bone and tissue, and filling the space with cod liver oil brought about more rapid healing. This cod liver oil treatment for old wounds is now a recognized procedure in many countries.

A still further use for cod liver oil in what may be called a "surface" infection is recorded by Dr. I. A. Manville, Portland, Oregon, in Northwest Medicine: One of the mean and persistent afflictions is ulcerative colitis, an ulcerated condition of the large intestine or colon. There is alternating diarrhea and constipation with pus and blood in the stools, symptoms which resemble cancer as there is also the loss of weight. Treatment by injections of boric acid and other preparations bring disappointing results in many cases.

Dr. Manville devised a method of applying the cod liver oil to the lining surface of the last two or three feet of the large intestine (colon). The apparatus is composed of an ordinary paint gun as used in applying paint by the spray method. The only difference is that the nozzle is especially designed so that the tip will barely protrude beyond the end of the sigmoidoscope—the instrument which dilates or widens the last few inches of the bowel for examination purposes. The air pressure is adjusted by the use of an air pressure reduction gauge so that it is barely sufficient to deliver a spray at the top of the nozzle. After preparing the patient with a cleansing enema, the sigmoidoscope is inserted full length, the nozzle of the spray gun placed in position, and the pressure released. The entire apparatus is slowly withdrawn thus leaving a thin coat of cod liver oil applied directly to the lining surface of the lower bowel.

The patients treated by this method, though not large in number, have been distinctly benefited.

Eight Health Booklets
 Do you have to watch your calories, fats, starches, etc? Do you worry about your heart? Are you susceptible to colds? Are you worried about your blood pressure? The following booklets by Dr. Barton will be helpful to many readers and can be secured by sending ten cents for each one desired to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., mentioning the Kingston Daily Freeman. Booklets are: Eating Your Way to Health; The Common Cold; Overweight and Underweight; Food Allergy; Why Worry About Your Heart?; Neuritis; Scourge (gonorrhea and syphilis); How is Your Blood Pressure?

Elvis Shultz and Miss Ethel Connors married in St. Remy.

Mrs. Henry Miller of Saugerties died.

Theodore Houghtaling, 76, found dead in a chair in his home on Broadway. Death was due to a heart attack.

Kingston Not on Decline
 According to Poughkeepsie Courier, "business and political leaders in Kingston and Ulster county are definitely worried about the continued decline in population of the county and its chief city." The latest census credited Kingston with 23,988 population. "Informed sources," says the Courier, "predict this total will decline to less than 27,000 when the 1940 enumeration is taken. The figure is based on careful estimate made recently."

The News would say the "estimate" is a piece of nonsense. In late years Kingston has been leading mid-Hudson cities in housing construction. That tells a story of growing population.—The News-Borough News.

 The Zero Hour

DUNNING lifted a large, white head. "Just a minute. There are a few points to consider before we take any hasty step, and the first and most important is the safety of Virgoe Wills. We have pretty good authority for believing that this day will see the end of his life, and we know his death is the stake these gentlemen are playing for. Our first duty is to attend to his safety. Up to now, I'm happy to say, he is ignorant of his niece's disappearance, and I warn you that I shall resist, by force if need be, any attempt to alarm him about her. See here, son," he continued on a softer note, "if you go to the police about Otilie's vanishing, you'll have the whole circus, complete with elephants, dashing around here to interrogate him. Before you know where you are, the old man'll be out scouring the town for her, and now in the name of all that's holy, are we going to keep an eye on him in the sort of free-for-all frolic that'll be filling the streets shortly?"

He was right, and I knew it, but nevertheless my whole soul recoiled from the thought of leaving the girl to her fate. Minx she might be, but there was a charm, a courage, an innate honesty about her that made the thought of leaving her to Geiss completely unthinkable. Therefore, when Hugo spoke, I had already ranged myself mentally and physically on his side.

"I can't do it," he said, and his voice was tired. "You're right, Dunning, according to your lights—but you see, I love her and I've got to have a shot at finding her."

I never suspected that. You go out and look for your girl, and take Archie along to help you. I'd come myself if I could, but you know how it is. I'll have my hand full, but there's two or three of my men hanging around this locality to help me, and I guess we'll win out."

Hugo threw him a swift, grateful glance. "I won't forget that, Dunning," he said. "The sooner we find her, the sooner will be back to go to you a hand, Archie, are you ready?"

"Champing at the bit to be gone," I retorted, much relieved, but even as I turned to follow him I halted, stopped short in my tracks by the sight of a tall, rugged figure emerging from the lift. It was Virgoe Wills himself, and at sight of us he reclined his gray head in dignified salutation and came towards us.

"Good morning, gentlemen," he said. "If you are willing to see me, you are most welcome, but if by any chance you have a date with Otilie, I fear you'll be disappointed. Cassandra tells me she's feeling poorly this morning."

"Now, if that isn't too bad!" said Dunning with a spurious heartiness. "Here's Mr. Stern come with an invitation to you and Miss Otilie to spend the next two or three days with him and his sister at their chalet."

The old man bowed gravely. "We are much obliged to you, Mr. Stern," he said, "but Otilie, as you have just heard, is keeping her room—"

"He broke off sharply, for another voice had sounded at his elbow, a fat, oily voice that I knew only too well."

"But no, monsieur!" it said. "You are mistaken. Mademoiselle Otilie, she is already out, enjoying the braderie. Just one little moment ago I met her, and she asked me to come and tell you to join her."

I swung round and saw, with a mixture of stupefaction and dismay, the squat, obese figure of Baron Stahl standing at my elbow. For a moment we all stared at him in a dazed silence; then Hugo spoke.

"That's a lie!" he said sharply. "Miss Wills is in her room, suffering from a headache."

"It's Come At Last"
 THE old man looked from one to the other of us, knitting his shaggy brows. For a moment, it seemed, he almost suspected that something was wrong—and then, as his eye lighted on Hugo, his face cleared. I knew only too well what he was thinking. Here was yet one more of his niece's visitors, jealous that she had chosen another escort to show her round the fair.

"Well," he said slowly, "I guess the Baron should know what he's talking about. Mr. Stern, you'll find Otilie's maid, that woman—sudden decisions and impulsive actions, but she doesn't mean a mile of harm. If she wants me, though, I imagine I'd better be getting along. Where did you say she was waiting, Baron? In the main street?"

"In the main street," he said, "the small, fat man assented with a triumphant glance at us. 'I take you there right away, no?' But now it was Dunning's turn to protest."

"See here, Mr. Wills," he drawled, "there's a crush out there by now. It's scarcely the kind of spot."

Pig Peace

"HUSH," said the little pig as he crouched in the trailer, "do not say a word."

Willy Nilly went forth to speak to the little girl whose crying voice he had heard.

"What is the matter?" he asked her.

"Oh, dear," she sighed, as she came up toward the trailer.

"I've lost my little pig!"

"Your little pig?" repeated Willy Nilly.

"Yes," the little girl said, with sobs in her voice, "he has gone away, and he is my pet. He was the one pig my daddy said I could keep forever. He said he was going to sell the others and I did not mind. But this one he said he was not going to sell because he was my pet—and now my pet has left me."

"You'd never sell this one?" asked Willy Nilly.

"Oh, never, never," cried the little girl.

"And are you sure your daddy feels the same way?" asked Willy Nilly.

"Oh, yes, I'm absolutely sure," returned the little girl.

"Then I think you'll find your pig is safe with us," said Willy Nilly. "He was so afraid he would have to leave you."

"Some pigs don't mind being made into bacon—and I like it," admitted the little girl. "But my pet was different."

She didn't have to say anything more. Willy Nilly opened the door of the trailer and the pet pig and his owner were united.

"We're on our way," cried Christopher Columbus Crow, "but we had to give a pig peace, and happiness before we could go far."

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—From gleanings here and there we are able to present something of a picture of what the New Deal strategists expect will result from the so-called purge.

Keep in mind there is another side to the picture, but this is THEIR side.

Some of the older heads, who had buttered their bread with politics for many a year, knew before the purge started that defeat was certain in several instances and likely in others. They knew the defeats would be interpreted as setbacks for the administration. What was to be gained?

First off, as these people see it, a Democratic senator listed for the purge will be a marked man in the future. That may or may not influence his voting in the next congress. New Deal figures participating in the purge suspect it will. The party loyalty of those "marked" senators has been questioned by the head of the party.

These marked senators may consider that blind following of party leadership is not party loyalty. They may hold that true party loyalty compels them to vote against administration proposals they consider unwise.

May Rise As 'Martyrs'

Contrary to some New Deal expectations, an aura of martyrdom may attach to them, increasing their independence and benefiting them in other ways. Senator Clark of Missouri, for instance, was examined more closely as a presidential prospect after his name was "posted." Nevertheless, New Deal sources predict that a Democrat accused of disloyalty will be a "very uncomfortable" Democrat.

It is within the realm of possibility that the marked senators may meet real trouble from Republican opposition in November. Here is the situation they foresee.

The popular name of Roosevelt won't be at the head of the ticket this November to help along his cause.

Moreover, in some states the controlling vote in the next party primaries, who for the first time have been with the New Deal since 1932. They have followed Roosevelt. Now, New Deal sources point out, Mr. Roosevelt or some of his lieutenants have stamped these senators as no longer progressives in the Roosevelt sense.

Another Iowa Test
 One man with whom we talked cited Iowa as a possible example. Iowa was predominantly a Republican state until 1932. It had a roving progressive vote which had been GOP so long that it was considered party property. In 1932 it swung heavily to Roosevelt and again in 1936 to such a degree that a veteran Republican senator, Louis J. Dickinson, was defeated.

This year Dickinson is opposing Senator Guy Gillette who won the Democratic nomination after being marked for the purge. It is true that Roosevelt never spoke out against Gillette and after the primary invited him to the White House. But Gillette was on the list and that fact, the informant said, is contributing real advantage to Dickinson, the Republican candidate, who is an energetic campaigner.

That same condition, it was argued, may weigh against Senator Tydings of Maryland, actively opposed by the President, and against Senator McCarran of Nevada, a purge candidate who escaped active presidential opposition. McCarran is opposed in the general election by former Senator Odette, who fell before the purge by a narrow 1,700-vote margin in the Democratic landslide of 1932.

All in all, as the purge management seems to see it, those independent Democratic senators who outride the purge may survive the general elections by narrow margins, so that their independence may be decidedly tempered. And if they lose, it will be much easier for Roosevelt to force a control selection of delegates to the national convention in 1940.

Man About Manhattan
 By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Here is an amusing thing, at the time, annoying little contretemps that happened the other day, and as it is something that might very well happen to you at one time or another I think you ought to know about it.

This friend of mine, this Mr. A., got into a cab, with his valise, and instructed the driver to take him to the Shelton hotel. A few minutes later he changed his mind. He yelled, "Hey, driver, let me off at the McAlpin. I have to see Ernest. Ernest is my favorite barber, and I need a hair trim. I'll tell you what. You let me off at the McAlpin and then you take my bag on over to the Shelton and check it for me. Leave the check in my name at the desk."

This was absolutely okay with the driver, and after Mr. A. wrote down his name and gave him sufficient money to cover the fare and the baggage check, the cabby drove away. Meanwhile something prompted Mr. A. to make a note of the cab's license number.

TIME passed. It became dark. I soon the night wore away, and about 9 o'clock next morning your agile correspondent entered the Shelton and went up to Mr. A.'s room to have a cup of coffee with him. Mr. A. and I belong to a very exclusive coffee club. We are the only members there are. But he wasn't sleeping his brew

Beans are not usually looked upon as poultry feed, but still beans are sometimes fed. It is best to cook the beans and feed them as part of a wet mash, similar to the way potatoes are fed.

Fitch Will Be Speaker Here at Big Mass Meeting

George Fitch, of Nanking, China, American secretary of the Chinese Y. M. C. A. and at one time Emergency Mayor of the City of Nanking, will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting to be held next Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock at the Kingston Y. M. C. A., under the auspices of the Kingston China Aid Council.

Mr. Fitch who now is in this country on furlough, is expected to describe present-day conditions in China at the meeting which will launch a local drive for funds to aid the suffering Chinese people. Mr. Fitch has been a member of the staff of the International Y. M. C. A. committee in China since 1909 and has held his present position as American secretary in Nanking since 1928.

During the first 10 weeks of the Japanese occupation of Nanking, Mr. Fitch was the Emergency Mayor of Nanking. Later, he became the director of a refugee camp in that area, having under his supervision approximately 250,000 homeless and starving Chinese.

Other speakers at the mass meeting will be Mr. and Mrs. Chu Tong, a Chinese couple who are authors and lecturers. Mr. Chu Tong is a graduate of Tsing-hua University at Peking and also received a degree from the University of California.

A graphic description of the Japanese invasion of China and of the Chinese defense of their homeland will be given at the meeting in a motion picture, entitled, "China Strikes Back." This film has been hailed as the most authentic photographic record of the current Sino-Japanese hostilities.

The subscription of a large sum for medical and civilian relief in China, it is hoped, will be brought about by this mass meeting. Executive directors of the Kingston-China Aid Council include Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, chairman; the Rev. Russell S. Gaensle, the Rev. Clarence E. Brown, Robert L. Sisson, Dr. Elizabeth Parsons, Miss Jean Estey, Dr. Henry L. Bibby and William A. Wright.

Today
Kingston: "The Chaser," with Dennis O'Keefe and Ann Morris, also "Blonde Cheat," starring Joan Fontaine. Also "I Am the Law," starring Edward G. Robinson as the preview attraction.

Broadway: "Four's a Crowd." An up-to-the-minute American comedy aimed with one aim — to make the audience laugh. The four persons with whose fortunes it is mainly concerned are: A bright and fascinating newspaper man, Errol Flynn; a spoiled but charming hostess, Olivia de Havilland; a clever smoothie of a girl reporter, Rosalind Russell, and a rich playboy, Patrick Knowles, who inherits a newspaper. Walter Connolly also plays a prominent role as Miss de Havilland's grandfather and a rapacious buccaneer of the business world. Also special short selected subjects.

Orpheum: "Blockade," the romantic drama of war-torn Spain currently co-starring Madeleine Carroll and Henry Fonda. Supporting Miss Carroll and Fonda are Leo Carrillo, John Halliday, Reginald Denny, Vladimir Sokoloff, Robert Warwick, Katherine DeMille and others.

Tomorrow
Kingston: "I Am the Law."
Broadway: "Boys Town," with Spencer Tracy playing the part of Father Flanagan, an idealist who starts a boys' community to overcome the wrongs that young boys fall into without guidance. Mickey Rooney co-stars with Tracy.

Orpheum: "A Desperate Adventure," starring Ramon Navarro as an artist who paints a picture of his dream girl, Marian Marsh, but falls in love with her sister, played by Margaret Tallichet. Complications develop over the picture which fill the cinema with plenty of interest.

Cordis Socials

The series of socials at Cordis House will begin next Wednesday on account of the severe storm which interfered with last night's program.

Butternut, Native Tree;

Prized by the Pioneers

The butternut is a native tree, little cultivated but of great use and value. The ash-colored bark is furrowed longitudinally in rather even ridges and its leaves are the largest of any North country tree. They are compound, being made up from 11 to 19 leaflets, and are often over 18 inches in length. They ripen and drop earlier than those of any other tree. So loosely are the leaflets attached that they are frequently blown off while the long midrib remains attached to the branch. In the spring butternuts are very late opening out their leaves.

The winter buds of a butternut are large and interesting to examine, observes a writer in the Rural New-Yorker. Beneath each one is a horse-shaped scar where the midrib of last year's leaf was attached. Covering the buds are big scales which peel backwards as the bud expands in opening.

The sap of the tree is very sweet and makes a delicious syrup. It will not harden into sugar, however, as the maple does.

The nuts are large and are covered with a thick, hard shell inside a husk. The pioneers wore shirts of linsy-woolsey which were dyed with butternut husks. The nut meats are very rich in oil and have a delicious flavor.

The early settlers supposed the butternut oil to have medicinal uses. This they learned from the Indians.

Hippopotamus May Weigh

As Much as an Elephant

The common hippopotamus (often called "hippo," for short) weighs about as much as the Indian elephant, but is not so heavy, on the average, as the African elephant. A big hippo may weigh four tons. Sometimes hippos are captured on land at night, with the help of traps. The flesh is good to eat, the tusks are valued for ivory, and the hide is used in making whips.

Armed with spears and an iron harpoon, the natives chase the animal in a canoe, writes a correspondent in the Portland Oregonian. When the harpoon is hurled the hippo makes a sudden leap. The hunters play out a long rope, in much the same way a fisherman plays his line for a game fish. This opens a battle which may or may not prove "merry." Down the stream at full speed dashes the hippo, towing the canoe with great ease. Sometimes the angry beast turns around, attacking the boat and upsetting it. That is a signal for the hunters to dive. In other cases the hippo swims into shallow water. Then the natives jump out and do their best to finish the fight with spears. If they succeed, they obtain many hundreds of pounds of meat for the tribe.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Sept. 21.—Last week the school authorities started to test the hearing of all boys and girls from the fourth grade in the Marlborough Central School System. A new audiometer purchased this summer by the school is being effectively used. The testing in Marlborough school is not quite finished. Milton school will be commenced immediately following the finishing of the Marlborough school. The physical examination is expected to start this week. The dental examination is made later in the year.

Dr. J. Boynton Scott has resumed his practice after being absent from his duties for more than a month due to a severe illness that kept him confined to Vassar Hospital for part of the time. He has his office in the one that he recently purchased from Dr. A. S. Ferguson.

George Rusk has been confined to his home by illness.

The Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church will hold a two-day rummage sale in the corner store at Kings street and Western avenue, Friday and Saturday, September 23 and 24. All sorts of articles will be on sale. On Friday a clam chowder sale will be held and on Saturday a food sale will be held in conjunction with the rummage sale.

The regular monthly meeting of the Marlborough Alumni Association will be held Thursday evening, October 6, in the Central School. At that time a report of the card party held last week will be made. Plans for the future and other business will be transacted.

Mrs. J. W. Albertson of Orange Lake has sold her farm on the Watlingtown road to F. Lito of New York. Mr. Lito has already taken possession. Saturday Mrs. Albertson held a sale of her household goods and farm implements. She will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Wilbur Lambertson, of Orange Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnston were the lucky winners of two loving cups at the Lake Wanasink water carnival held recently. Mrs. Johnston was awarded her cup in the nail driving contest and Mr. Johnston in the horseshoe pitch. The Johnstons have a summer home at Lake Wanasink, Sullivan county.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Mazzola of Church street became the parents of a daughter, Laura Alice, born in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, on September 10.

Victor Froemel is in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, undergoing treatment and having X-ray pictures taken.

The men of the Marlborough Central School faculty, who were enthusiastic members of the Bowling League last year, are again entered for the season's contests. The local team will bowl next Tuesday evening in Newburgh against the men of the Cornwall Hospital. Max Howard of the high school staff is chairman.

Miss Carolyn Ryan spent last week-end in Atlantic City, N. J.,

'CALL ME CURLY' Champion Fillesse Rumpelstiltskin was judged best at the Poodle club show in Far Hills, N. J., and his handler, Henry Stoecker, approves the choice. This French poodle is current American Kennel club champion.

and saw "Miss America" selected.

Mrs. Anna Norton was a recent guest of Miss Annie Hyde in Milton.

Mrs. J. J. Ennist of Highland was a guest on Wednesday of Mrs. Mae Dyer and Mrs. Jess Wright.

Sylvanus Casselles, manager of the local Grand Union Store, is enjoying a vacation from his duties.

Mrs. Nellie Case of Poughkeepsie was a recent guest at the home of Mrs. John Kramer.

Miss Erna Spencer entered St. Luke's Hospital for training on Monday.

DeWitt Scott, who has a position in Mount Kisco on the New York City Water Works, spent the week-end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Luthringer and daughter of Worcester were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Froemel.

Catching them alive and keeping them alive is the business of a fishing boat which supplies the aquarium at Marineland, Florida, with rare salt water fish. Designed to chase the fish into shallow water and over shallow water bars as well as into deep seas, the boat is equipped with mangle propeller shafting which is said to resist bending and breaking when the boat touches bottom. In capturing some of the largest fish and sea mammals alive, a hypodermic bullet is used to drug the creatures. After the fish is captured a tank is run out into the sea through a trap-door in the stern, the stunned fish is floated in and the tank is hauled back into the boat.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Sept. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Otto Faith and children, Janice and Florence, spent the week-end at the home of George Gheer.

Picture Booked
For China Aid

Under the auspices of the Woodstock China Aid Council, the motion picture, "China Strides Back," will be shown on Thursday, September 22, at 7:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church Hall in Woodstock.

During the evening Versus Noah, who has spent 14 years in China and is the author of books on the Orient, and Chu Teng, Chinese lecturer and writer, will present Woodstockers with an authoritative description of events in the Far East today.

Plans for this program were made following a meeting at the Woodstock schoolhouse on Sunday night, September 18, at which the chief speaker was Oliver Marshall, national director of the China Aid Council. Mr. Marshall, who has had experience in famine relief work in China, gave a vivid picture of the suffering undergone by the Chinese people due to the invasion of their country. He also explained the work already done by the China Aid Council which was formed to provide medical and civilian relief for the people of China.

Those working for the Woodstock China Aid Council are: The Rev. and Mrs. Harvey I. Todd, the Rev. William A. Hudson, Mrs. Jane Rogers, Mrs. Lillian F. Downer, Mrs. S. Krell, Mrs. S. F. Friedman, Mr. and Mrs. Will Elwyn, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Cabot.

Few Attend GOP Committee Meet

Because of the severe storm only a few Republican committeemen were out for the meeting at the court house last evening which was called for the purpose of naming a candidate for the office of coroner to succeed the late Lucien D. DuBois.

Of the 155 members of the committee there were perhaps twenty-five present when Chairman Philip Eiting, aided by a small group of flash-lights, addressed the meeting subject to the call of the chair. In order to transact business at least half of the members must be in attendance. Since nothing like 50 were able to brave the storm no business could be transacted.

The Kingston unit of the Home Bureau held its annual rally and covered dish luncheon on Tuesday, September 20, at 1 o'clock at the Home Bureau rooms. There were 16 members present.

After the luncheon a business meeting was held and the following program announced for the year 1938-39:

October 11—Foundation Garments.
October 25—Understanding Each Other.
November 1—Care of the Hands.
November 21—Making a Basic Dress.
November 29, December 2, 14 and 16—Same as November 21.
December 20—Christmas Party and Making of Christmas Greens.
January 10—Understanding Each Other.
January 12—Flowers and Scrubs.
January 24—Foods I.
February 14—Understanding Each Other.
February 22—Foods II.
March 3—Understanding Each Other.
March 21—Foods III.
April 11—Perennials.
April 25—Understanding Each Other.
May 9—Annual business meeting.
June 20—Picnic.

After this program was discussed games were played.

The following members were present: Mrs. Harry Yale, Mrs. F. B. Eytz, Mrs. H. Simmons, Mrs. M. Bertrand, Miss M. Smith, Mrs. J. C. Fraser, Mrs. H. Spade, Mrs. Buddenhagen, Mrs. M. Ryder, Mrs. E. Tillson, Mrs. H. Segman, Mrs. C. Hutton, Mrs. A. C. Berwin.

The following were guests: Mrs. E. M. Smith, Mrs. C. Dumm and Mrs. M. Bailey.

PORT EWIN

Port Ewin, Sept. 22—Martin J. Munnely, tax collector for school district No. 5, has received the roll and will collect taxes at his home for a period of 30 days, at 1 per cent after which 5 per cent will be charged.

The Reformed Church choir will hold its regular weekly rehearsal Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the church.

Considerable damage was caused yesterday in the village by the high wind storm and heavy rain. Electric service wires were down in many places throwing the village in darkness. Many big trees were broken off or uprooted.

DRY BROOK

Dry Brook, Sept. 22—Mr. and Mrs. William Wilbur and son-in-law, Lewis Starr, and two children of Norwich visited Mr. Starr's brother-in-law, Merwin Todd at Batavia Mountain Observatory, Sunday.

The community was saddened to learn of the death of Garner Whipple, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whipple of this place Sunday evening at the Margaretville Hospital. He had been suffering from malignant tumor for more than a year. The funeral was held at the M. E. Church Thursday at 1 p. m. with burial in Wood cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Todd, Jr. and Mrs. Grover Kittle and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Haynes attended the clam bake which was held at Denver Inn, Sunday, for benefit of Batavia Kill Rod and Gun Club.

Robert Close and family of Arena were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ney Todd in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Stewart, and son, Norman, and daughter, Grace, of Rahway, N. J., spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart, here.

Claude Fairchild is assisting with farm duties at Ney Todd's farm.

Some Chicken
Wilmette, Ill. (AP)—A bewildered chicken, running around and around and from side to side of the Wilmette-Central avenue intersection, tied up traffic from four directions the other night. Motorists blatted and moaned their horns shouted and swore, which of course did not help the chicken get straightened out. The fowl finally found haven in the arms of Edward J. Flannery, stock broker, who took it to his suburb home.

A Feast for the Sabbath

In America, 'tis said, we feast on the Sabbath. This no doubt is a carry-over from Colonial days when Saturday was spent in preparation for the Sabbath on which no work could be done. Times change but certain customs we adhere to steadfast as a rock. Perhaps we've planned a "big day" for Sunday—guests for breakfast, early church, time out to read the funnies, guests for dinner and an afternoon tour to a nearby spot of beauty. Plans like these fill our lives and go to make for more abundant living. But we homemakers know that to join in the fun, we must be foresighted enough to plan meals which will fill every requirement without preventing us from participating in the other activities. Recipes like these should help you accomplish this.

ROAST CHICKEN

Dress chicken. Wash carefully inside and outside. Wipe dry. Rub with salt and pepper. Prepare stuffing and fill chicken, packing lightly. Sew up the openings. Truss. Rub with melted butter and sprinkle with paprika. Place in roaster and sear in oven (500°F.) 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 300°F. Cover. Roast until tender. Baste frequently. Allow 25 minutes per pound.

FRUIT STUFFING

½ pound dried apricots, ½ pound dried prunes, 4 cups stale bread cubes, ¾ teaspoon salt and ¾ cup melted butter.

Wash fruit and pour over it 1 cup boiling water. When softened (about ½ hour) drain, cut up coarsely. Add remaining ingredients and toss to mix.

CRANBERRY SAUCE

1 pound cranberries, 2 cups water and 1½ to 2 cups granulated sugar.

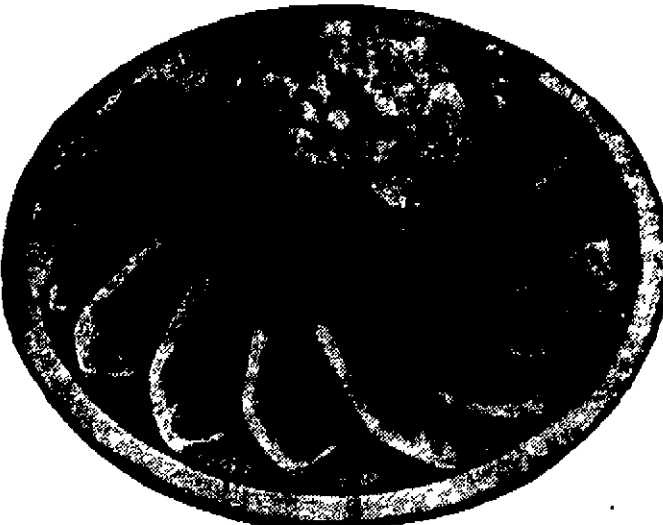

Boil sugar and water together five minutes; add cranberries and boil without stirring until all skins pop open—about five minutes. Remove from the fire, popping stops and allow the sauce to remain in dish until cool.

A Sunday Night Club Platter

Pink and white slices of cold boiled ham, glistening, tangy horseradish molds and creamy potato salad go to make a Sunday night club platter that's a treat to the eye as well as the palate. I have just enough room to give you the recipe for the horseradish molds; but mix up your favorite type of potato salad and slice the ham to suit yourself.

HORSERADISH MOLDS

Dissolve one package lemon gelatine in one cup boiling water. Add ¾ cup vinegar and cool until it starts to thicken. Then add ¾ teaspoon salt and ¼ cup prepared horseradish. Fill individual molds half full of mixture and chill.

of New York among men, women and children in the poorer districts. It maintains a large staff of chaplains who are assigned to work in the city institutions and hospitals. In addition to this, fresh air and convalescent work is carried out at Englewood, N. J., Millford, Conn., and at West Park.

New Life
The life of vibrator units for automobile radios in English cars has been increased from 1,000 to 5,000 hours by the use of model roads which retain spring properties at operating temperatures and withstand failure by fatigue at 100 vibrations per second.

To Give Lecture
There will be a lecture given by a blind girl by the name of Helen Hurst, and her faithful dog, also a roast pork supper given by the Ladies' Aid Society at the West Shokan Baptist Church on Wednesday night, September 29. The supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

ARE ACES AND PAINS OF ARTHRITIS DUE TO SULPHUR DEFICIENCY MAKING YOUR HOME UNHAPPY

The tormenting aches, pains and swelling from Arthritis due to sulphur deficiency endured by some family member often brings heartaches and unhappiness in the home. Most doctors have found that the aches and pains of Arthritis due to sulphur deficiency are often relieved by administering Coloidal Sulphur to meet the deficiency and bring relief from the torturous aches and pains. It is a great many instances intravenous injections of Coloidal Sulphur are given—but that is beyond the reach of a great many sufferers. Now, thanks to colloidal chemistry—Coloidal Sulphur can be taken by mouth—is easy to take capsule form. Called Sulpho-Sol. Sulpho-Sol capsules containing Colloidal Iodized Sulphur—cost about 40¢ per dose—(40¢ for 30 day supply.)

Parent-Teacher Association

Walkkill

Walkkill, Sept. 21—Thirty-five teachers, parents and friends attended the Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday evening at the school and enjoyed a get-acquainted meeting. Mrs. L. C. Edsall, president, presided at the business meeting, at which it was decided to reduce the dues for the year to 25 cents, with the idea of having more parents as members. C. E. Caswell is chairman of the membership committee. The organization also voted to serve the dinner for gentlemen's night of the woman's club Friday evening, October 28. Mrs. Daniel DuBois was appointed chairman of the arrangement committee.

Mr. Crane, principal, then introduced the new members of the faculty, after which the meeting was adjourned and Mrs. Theresa Marchinkowski, program chairman of the evening, had a short entertainment, which consisted of a reading, "Tommy's Essay on Conductors," by Irene Wichamy, given by one of Dr. Henry Van Dyke's works, "The Footpath to Peace," read by Miss Ella Phinney. Other poems read were "Mother's Lament," by Bessie Moeller, given by Mrs. James Terwilliger, "The Farmer's H," by Burton Bradley, by Mrs. Daniel DuBois, "Her Day," by Helen Welshimer, given by Miss Marion Hammesfahr, and "The Perfect Beach," by Norma R. Jaffray, given by Miss Lois Morehouse.

Games were then enjoyed with Mrs. Paurowski of Plattkill and Mrs. Janet Brown as prize winners. A get acquainted march was then staged and a social time followed with refreshments.

Principal E. H. Crane and Miss Ruth Tanner are the committee for the October meeting.

Rosendale

The Rosendale Parent-Teacher Association will hold its first important meeting of business and socials at the school auditorium tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

The president, Mrs. N. Lippert, sends an invitation to all mothers to attend this important meeting. Dues will be collected and progressing plans are to be made.

Release From Service

Berlin, Sept. 22 (AP)—Telephoned advice from Eger today said that Czechoslovak military authorities ordered the release from service of all soldiers of German nationality. The informant did not know whether this applied throughout the nation, but said it was a definite order for the Eger, Sudeten German district.

Branch Hits Store

A branch from the tree in front of the court house was blown down during the height of the storm yesterday into the front of the new Rabin's clothing store at 293 Wall street.

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with any ailment is to get at its cause. If you are constipated, don't fiddle with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble! Chances are you won't have to look very far if you eat just the things most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean just a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is what you lack, your ticket is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Brans for breakfast. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the intestinal tonic, Vitamin B<sub>1</sub>, and it's not a drug, not a medicine! Eat All-Brans every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars" Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbie Coon

HOLLYWOOD—This new hair-do the girls are supposed to be wearing is something a male who is extremely mere will have to get used in small doses.

The first time I saw one—on a studio secretary, not a star—I thought it was a mistake.

Of course you can trace this thing back to pictures. At least the various picture studios can. Paramount would have you believe that Claudette Colbert, with that show-the-ears, pile-up-the-ringslets coiffure for "Zaza," was the pace-setter. Warner Bros. are sure that if Betty Davis and Anita Louise in "The Sisters" hadn't done it, nobody would be bothered now. Universal puts the credit or blame on Danielle Darrieux and I think they have a right to—"The Rage of Paris" was on the screens before Colbert or Davis pulled up the loose ends.

THERE'S a bit of a division, too, in the make-up clan of West-mores about the latest tonsorial crisis. Perc (out at Warner's) says it's a move on the part of the beauty parlors to sell more permanents. Perc, with the House of Westmore selling permanents like all the rest, would seem to be cutting his own throat but that's how it is. Wally Westmore (at Paramount) is strong for "Zaza" and her pull-it-up mode. So apparently, is Claudette. She's been wearing it around, evenings.

The Warners aren't letting their stars or starlets go for the new mode, for daytime wear at least in pictures. For evening wear, the girls have been pushing it up, with flowers stuck here and there, for some years now. I'll never forget the first time I saw Claire Trevor done that way, with what looked like a daffodil bed transplanted among the curls.

Perc Westmore is afraid the hair-up notion isn't practical unless it's achieved with some cutting-in-the-back and some permanent-waving—those loose neckline strands trimmed, and the top hair waved.

The page-boy bob—comb it and brush it out and there you are!—was the thing that put the crimp in the beauty emporia. The sale of "permanents" fell off something awful while the girls discovered that the straight, short, boyish bob could hide a multitude of defects. Time-saver, too. Why, in a pinch a girl could skip washing neck and ears, although naturally none ever did THAT.

PERC WESTMORE is sure that husbands and men in general are going to revolt against any feminine hairdress that keeps turning down in strings at the neck, and that women are going to tire of how they look after the first hour's washing and ironing and cooking—three feminine pursuits guaranteed to wreck one of the pretty pile-ups.

Now He Knows

Fort Wayne, Ind. (AP)—R. J. Truex took the hard way to learn that his automobile tank capacity is 16 gallons. Truex took vigorous exception to a filling station attendant's claim that he put 15 gallons into the tank. "You're crazy," said Truex. "It won't even hold that much." Motorcycle policemen who were called to settle the argument summoned Barry Toland, city inspector of weights and measures. Toland drained 16 gallons from the tank and the cigars were on Truex.

Both Get Verdict

Albany, N. Y. (AP)—City court attaches were astounded when a jury, trying a civil action, awarded the plaintiff $350 and the defendant $240 on a counter suit. Judge Sol Rubenstein was equal to the occasion, however. With the jury's approval, he entered a verdict of $110 in favor of the plaintiff.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colic—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile isn't flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Refuse anything else. At all drug stores, 10¢ and 25¢.

Modjeska Reports Damage to Signs

Gas Modjeska of Modjeska Sign Studios in the Broadway Theatre building today reported about $2,000 damage to billboards in this sector.

"We lost about 15 boards in the heavy wind," said the sign man, "and the amount of damage will total more than $2,000."

"Two crews went out this morning," Modjeska said, "to right the billboards, and I calculate it will take 15 days to do the re-construction job, not counting the repainting."

Modjeska, who resides in Sagerties, said that his neighborhood was hard-hit by the heavy wind, which tore up trees by the roots and severed phone and electric light wires, leaving the village without service.

Wait For Blooming
Troy, N. Y. (AP)—After nearly a year of waiting, Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Chickner saw what they waited for—a cactus in bloom at night. They reported an eight-inch bloom on the so-called "Queen of the Desert Night." The phenomenon, occurring at infrequent intervals, is rarely seen by plant lovers because the blossoms close with the first ray of light.

Hordes Rush to New Goldfields

Stories of Sudden Wealth Lure Prospectors to Northern Canada.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA—Tales of sudden wealth have brought prospectors by the hundreds to this town, starting point of the trek to the new goldfields of the Northwest. Already during the past two years 4,000 claims, extending over an area of 55 miles in length, have been staked. Prospectors who started out with dreams of riches have returned and have been able to sell their claims to several of the large mining corporations of Canada and the United States for prices ranging from $50,000 to $500,000.

Three new boom towns have sprung up. They are Goldfields, on Lake Athabasca; Saskatchewan, on the north border of North West Territories; Yellowknife and Gordon Lake, N. W. T.

Wait Production. The test of the wealth of the new fields will be made when three properties come into production in a few months, as soon as mining equipment can be delivered, erected and started.

Meanwhile prospectors and others set off daily on tours of aerial exploration. Forty airplanes which operate winter and summer and cover an area of 500,000 miles fly these men into the unexplored parts, leave them for a few days, then return and pick them up and fly them to another spot 50 or 100 miles farther on. In this manner several rich "strikes" have been made.

The aircraft also deliver thousands of tons of freight. The mines are entirely dependent upon them for supplies during the winter, when the Mackenzie river is frozen over. During summer power boats and barges operate on the river, rushing in as much freight as possible.

Oil Fields Found. Oil discovered at McMurray, about 300 miles from here, will soon supply fuel to the river boats and airplanes and to the diesel-operated mining plants of the mines at an economical cost. Refineries and storage tanks have already been completed.

Although "Old Gus" Nyman, the original discoverer of Goldfields, is now penniless—his secret leaked out before he had a chance to stake his claims—fortune has smiled on others.

Sam Otto, an "old timer" in the game, sold his 18 claims to a mining syndicate for $50,000 last February. Two young men, the Ryan brothers, sold their claims in the Yellowknife area to a Canadian mining corporation for a reported $500,000. An adjoining group of claims was sold by the owners to another syndicate for $150,000.

The commitments already made by leading mining corporations will guarantee development work for the next 20 years," said L. E. Drummond, manager of the Alberta and North West Chamber of Mines. "And if all the claims up to the Arctic circle are developed it will take 100 years!"

Cobra Plant Is Offered As a Grasshopper Check

COLORADO SPRINGS.—The solution to the nation's grasshopper problem, according to M. W. Dye, biologist, of Seattle, is the grisly cobra plant, which he says will eat the grasshoppers before they get around to gnawing in wheat and corn fields.

The plant—Darlingtonia chrysanthra—resembles a hooded cobra reared in striking position. The plant lures insects down its hollow stalk and then kills them by acids at the base of the stem.

The cobra develops a form of delicate honey around its "mouth" to attract insects. Dye says he has cut open numerous of the plants and found grasshoppers, ants, beetles, flies, spiders and snails in them. During the winter, when the plants have no insects on which to live, they must be fed with small pieces of hamburger once a month, he says.

First Bathtub Imported From England About 1820

The first user of a bathtub in this country was the inventor of the cotton gin, Eli Whitney. He imported one from England about the year 1820, but just what it was like isn't known. Apparently, however, it was an object of curiosity, for when the tub was not in use Whitney kept it on exhibition in his front yard in New York city, according to a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The second user of a bathtub in America was Adam Thompson, a grain and cotton dealer of Cincinnati, Ohio, who, in 1842, had an American-made tub installed in his home. The tub was made of mahogany and lined with sheet lead. It was modeled after one used by Lord John Russell, prime minister of England.

Thompson's bathtub was such a novelty that he invited a number of gentlemen to his house for dinner and this was followed by a bath in the new tub. The occurrence made news for the local papers, but was frowned upon by the public in general, and especially by physicians, who predicted the use of the new-fangled bathing contraption would result in more cases of rheumatism, inflammation of the lungs and related ailments.

In 1843 the Common council of Philadelphia seriously considered a proposed ordinance prohibiting bathing in bathtubs between November 1 and March 15, and two years later Boston actually did pass an ordinance prohibiting their use except on medical advice. In an attempt to prohibit the use of bathtubs many cities increased the water rates for those persons owning one. The state of Virginia restricted their introduction by placing a tax of $30 a year on each tub.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Dates: What with an exact service for lonely women visitors to New York and a more recent similar service for the lonely New York male visitors, now comes an "introduction service" for young men and young women. The announcements state: "Introductions so correct your grandmother would approve... which make your life in New York as vivid and exciting as a Disney cartoon." Applicants for membership must give references which are "factually but carefully" investigated. They must also submit to an interview in which their backgrounds and hobbies are learned. Character sketches and photographs are filed and those wishing company merely have to thumb through the files until a suitable candidate is found. Membership costs $3 and thereafter, a charge of a buck for each introduction. Thus a boy or a girl with only a small cash capital need no longer be lonely in the great city.

Loneliness is not the only New York enemy against which an organized campaign is being waged. A new institution is designed to minimize the handicaps of bachelorhood. For a fee, bachelors will be sewed on, socks mended and other chores usually performed by wives, mothers and sisters will be done. Not only that but apartments will be looked after, beds made, clothes sent out to be pressed and if desired, arrangements made for parties. Withal bachelors may have many of the benefits of matrimony without being called on to make explanations when they come home showing the effects of foolish water or if they happen to stay out extra late.

City Life: On Fifth street, near Sixth avenue, a dancing Negro... His clothing covered with ribbons and artificial flowers... Safety pins stuck in his bare feet... As he shuffles about, he accompanies himself on a more or less musical instrument fashioned from a tin can... His reward, an occasional penny... A self-absorbed sailor walking along Forty-eighth street playing a tune on a toy piccolo... At Times square and Forty-fifth street, a young man hurrying to the assistance of a drunk who isn't doing a good job of escorting a blind man across the street... On Forty-second street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, bootblacks grabbing their chairs and shine boxes at sight of a cop, running into a subway entrance to hide and emerging and resuming business when the coast is clear.

Dark: The object of most sun-starved New Yorkers, especially feminine ones, is to acquire as much tan as possible during the summer months. Early in the season, boiled lobster complexion is common because of Sunday at Coney. But as the Sunday pass, with perhaps two weeks' vacation up in the Catskills or down at the shore, the little stonographer achieves the shade of an aborigine, the coat of suntan oil and various sunburn soothing ointments merely being regarded as overhead. In the past, I was diverted by tracing suntan patterns on the bodies of chorus girls when they resumed work in the fall. Such pastime is impossible now. They wear more on the stage than they do on the beaches.

Sights: These old eyes have become more or less accustomed to the various spectacles witnessed daily on the streets of New York. But the other afternoon while strolling along Park avenue and wishing that paragraphs would write themselves, I stopped and rubbed my eyes. Advancing toward me was an exceedingly fine lady, glittering with gold circlets on wrists and ankles while in her hand was a pink ribbon. At the end of the ribbon was a pompous goose wearing a gold collar and gold anklets. By the time I had recovered enough to ask questions, the lady and the goose were gone.

Luck: When a man bought some smokes in a Times square cigar store, the clerk showed back a $10 bill he offered. Said Uncle Sam hadn't made it. So the customer heaving a sigh, showed the counterfeiter into his coat pocket, produced another bill, paid, and went out. On Forty-second street, a young man bumped into him, apologized and was gone. So was the bum bill. And the man is wondering what the pickpocket will do with it.

Missionaries in Liberia

WASHINGTON.—In the performance of their duties, American missionaries in Liberia travel hundreds of miles each year through the steaming jungles in hammocks borne by natives, according to the Right Reverend Leopold Krull, Protestant Episcopal bishop to the African republic.

For six months of the year the bishop and his assistants explore the jungle or travel up and down 450 miles of coastline in the bishop's launch, seeking to convert the natives. In the other six months, Bishop Krull said, torrential rains make missionary work impossible except along a small strip of coast.

Report Slight Fire

Firemen from the Willwyck fire station were called to the Nekos home at 331 Washington avenue about 12:15 this afternoon where they found fire in the electrical wiring leading into the house. Damage was confined to the wiring.

Stocks Were Up Again Wednesday

As the foreign situation clears indices of domestic progress are attracting more attention. Important factors in yesterday's news were reports that September earnings of railroads would show a gain over August, increased carloadings, power production and an advance in the steel operations rate.

Stocks were again on the upward side yesterday. Industrial issues on the New York Stock Exchange gained 0.88 points, to 139.29 in the Dow-Jones averages. Rails were up 0.29, to 25.86; utilities gained 0.18 point, to 18.88. A total of 1,030,000 shares changed hands. Bonds were bid up. Foreign markets were steady.

Wheat was off as much as 1 1/2 cents in Chicago; cotton down 4 to 8 cents in New York; sugar off 3 to 5, hides up as much as 15 points, rubber lost 6 to 15 points.

Based on first roads reports freight loadings for week-ended September 17 are estimated at 560,000 cars, highest for any week since that ended November 13 last year.

Steel operations for the industry as a whole for week-ended September 19 is placed at 47 per cent in Dow-Jones compilations. There were mid-week advances at Pittsburgh and Youngstown, the latter to 37.8 per cent of capacity, a new high for the recovery. Youngstown was up to 48 per cent.

Power production last week was only about five per cent below the same week in 1937; present trend is upward and showing may be better as the year draws to a close.

A reorganization plan for Postal Telegraph & Cable Corp. has been filed. A separate telegraph system from cable and radio systems. No provision is made for holders of present Postal preferred and common shares.

It is stated that the broad regulatory program for the $5,000,000,000 investment trust industry, to be recommended to Congress by the SEC, will be patterned after the Utility Act of 1935. It is indicated that the program will affect rigid registration, corporate structure, distribution, trading, exchange of securities to effect mergers or consolidations, repurchases.

The unionized trucking strike in New York city, now a week old, threatens to block construction work at the World's Fair grounds.

It is indicated yesterday that railroad management will not back down in its demands for a 15 per cent reduction in rail wages.

It is assumed that Czechoslovakia will probably lose large industrial centers as well as huge mineral resources by her yielding to Hitler's demands for session of territories occupied predominantly by German speaking people. In that event there is fear that the country may not be able to meet service on her foreign debt unless assisted by a Franco-British loan.

Crucible Steel and subsidiaries show net loss for six months ended June 30 of $1,540,360. Compared with net profit in the same period last year of $3,099,797, equal after preferred dividends of $5.03 on common stock.

Polish Press Indignant

Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 22 (UP)—The entire Polish press expressed indignation today over what it called France's lack of understanding of Poland's position on the Czechoslovak minority question. The newspaper, Express Paryski, which frequently reflects foreign office views, said "French influence in middle and eastern Europe is vanishing." "France did not wish or could not help her ally, Czechoslovakia," the paper said. "The Little Entente, once France's political instrument in eastern and middle Europe does not function any more."

FEARED SLAIN

New York, Sept. 22 (UP)—The stock market today gave up some of its wide gains scored in this week's recovery but dealings shrank to the smallest in some time as traders reduced speculative operations to await the next move on the European stage.

With a waiting attitude succeeding the recent active buying and selling swings, losses in most stocks were held to moderate proportions and prices merely drifted near the final hour.

Transactions ran at the rate of 500,000 shares for the full session, about half yesterday's trading pace.

Mostly accounting for the market attitude, it appeared, was a desire to await the results of the second meeting between Chancellor Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain. The aftermath of the British-French plan for dismemberment of Czechoslovakia remained the focus of attention in financial circles.

Cautious waiting became the watchword all around on trading fronts. Recovery also faded in bonds and commodities traced narrow orbits, with wheat still going counter to the trend in securities.

Down fractions to more than 2 points at one time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, American Can, Westinghouse, American Telephone, New York Central, Westinghouse, Loew's, Sears Roebuck and U. S. Rubber preferred.

With telegraph wires into New England down, the hurricane's sweep through the northeastern section of the country was blamed in part for the sluggishness of the dealings. It cut brokers, too, out of communication with some trading sources.

However, this was rated secondary to the swift-moving European events.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 15 Broad street, New York city, branch office 48 Main street, R. B. Osterhout, manager.

About The Folks

Miss Thelma Tranker has returned to her home on Maiden Lane from the Kingston Hospital where she was a patient.

How the Kangaroo Fights

Normally the kangaroo is as peaceful and harmless as a lamb, but when hunted by dogs he is likely to turn and attack. The 'roo generally backs up to a tree or rock, the dog jumps for a throat-hold and promptly is encompassed in short, strong forelegs. Then with his powerful hind legs, ending in a wicked claw, the kangaroo proceeds to rip the dog's hide. At other times the 'roo will stand in a pool of water, seize the dog as it dashes to the attack and hold it under water until the last gasp. The "Old Man" Kangaroo may be eight or nine feet tall when standing on its toes, but the species comes in many sizes down to specimens measured in inches.

If old poultry can be frozen at a low temperature before cooking, the tough fibers are broken down and the meat cooks up tender.

Local Death Record

John J. King of Alpen died at his home Wednesday morning. His funeral will be held Saturday at 9 a. m. from the home and at 9:30 o'clock at St. Mary's Church, Compton, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery, Kingston.

Peter Tucker died at his home in Brooklyn Monday, September 19. He is survived by three sons, James, Daniel and Vincent Tucker, all of Brooklyn. Two sisters and three brothers, Mrs. Richard Kirian and Mrs. Catharine Whalen, and Michael Tucker, all of Fort Worth, Texas, and Joseph Tucker of Brooklyn. Funeral services will be held Friday morning from St. Anthony's Church, where a high Mass will be offered. Burial will be in the family plot at Calvary Cemetery, Brooklyn.

Sylvester Jones of West Shokan died Wednesday. Surviving are his wife, formerly Miss Nettie Eckert; three brothers, William Jones of West Shokan, Frank Jones of Haines Falls and Augustus Jones of Kingston; one sister, Ella Service of Tampa, Fla., and several nieces and nephews. He was a member of Charles DeWitt Council, 91, J. R. O. U. A. M. His funeral will be held from the West Shokan Baptist Church, Sunday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Mt. Tremper Rural cemetery.

Michael A. Sanford died at his home, 113 Pearl street on Wednesday. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marguerite Mulligan Sanford; two sons, Harold A. and Edward F. Sanford, both of this city, and three daughters, Mrs. Ira Maurer of Connelly, Mrs. I. Foster of St. John, and Miss Helen Sanford of this city, and the following grandchildren, Jack and Dorothy Sanford, Jane, Helen and Frances Maurer, Maureen Foster and Patricia, Delores and Edward Sanford. Funeral services will be held from the late home on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and thence to St. Joseph's Church where a requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 o'clock with burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of the Rev. Charles O. Ellis, pastor emeritus of the Roundout Presbyterian Church, which he had served as pastor for 30 years, was held Wednesday afternoon from his home in Margaretville. The services were largely attended and the floral offerings were many. The Rev. O. W. Chapin, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Margaretville, officiated and paid a tribute to the life and works of Dr. Ellis. Burial was in the cemetery at Margaretville where Dr. Ellis was laid beside his wife who died in 1937. The bearers were I. W. Scott, W. Mary's cemetery.

Merchants Ready For Fall Opening

prominent judges will determine the winners in the essay contest.

This is a new departure in the fall opening program in that instead of the merchants getting the prizes for the best dressed windows the prizes go to the public. A look at the windows and a brief essay does it. Easy money.

Wall street between North Front and John streets will be cleared of cars by 8 o'clock so that there will be plenty of room for the crowds of people that are expected to be present. The platform, from which the entertainment program will be given, will be erected about in the center of the reserved portion of Wall street, and with the loud speaker hook-up the music and other features of the program may be heard by all present.

Legionnaires Leave

Los Angeles, Sept. 22 (UP)—A farewell with a promise of reunion next year in Chicago was given by thousands of legionnaires today as they began their exodus from their 1938 convention city. Although the business sessions of the convention continue today with election of officers, the main body of legionnaires already was leaving Election of Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle, Wash., as national commander will be a formality today.

A high-contrast, black and white photograph of a textured surface, possibly a wall or ceiling. At the top, there is a large, dark, irregular shape that appears to be a shadow or a piece of material. Below this, the surface is covered in a dense, granular texture. In the center, a small, dark, vertical object hangs down, resembling a piece of string or a small object suspended from the surface. The overall image has a grainy, high-contrast quality, typical of a photocopy or a low-quality scan.

Worst Storm Riddles City

the roof of a two-family house, and a nearby tree threatened to topple over at any minute. No dangerous was the condition that the families in the house were alarmed and moved out for the night.

Call For Aid.

When the storm first broke Mayor Heiselman left his home, to which he did not return until 2:30 o'clock this morning, and hurried to the telephone office to send out calls for public works employees to report for duty immediately at the public works garage.

The telephone girls were swamped with thousands of calls and owing to falling wires were unable to make all of the necessary calls for men.

The Clark radio service was called upon by the mayor and offered the service of the sound truck. This truck was sent through the streets announcing the call for men needed to help clear the streets and telling them where to report for work at once.

Warns Residents.

The sound truck then again made a tour of the city issuing a warning and request to residents to keep off the streets owing to the danger of life and limb from falling trees and heavily charged electric wires that had been torn down. The great majority of residents complied with the request, and it was undoubtedly due to that fact that no reports of anyone being killed or injured were received.

Legion Aids

Commander Joe Sills and 22 members of Kingston Post of the American Legion reported to Chief of Police J. Allan Wood for duty and were assigned to assist in traffic and other necessary ways and rendered invaluable service during the night.

Police Take Charge

Chief Wood realizing the seriousness of the situation had every available man in the police department summoned for duty and they worked under his direction and that of Lieutenants Phinney and Simpson. He also commissioned 25 extra men to work as special policemen.

City in Darkness

The entire city had been plunged in darkness by the hurricane, and those residents who were forced to be out walked armed with flashlights.

It was the first time in many years that the entire street lighting system had been placed out of commission by a storm.

The augmented police force worked throughout the entire night patrolling the entire city, and paying special attention to the business districts.

As fast as streets were opened to traffic they were promptly patrolled by the radio cars, all of which were placed in commission for the night.

Creek Overflows

The heavy rains caused the Rondout creek to overflow its banks and in some places along East Strand the creek waters invaded the street and it was necessary to rope off the street to traffic.

Rainfall Record

The records in the city engineer's office show that since September 1 until the storm ceased there had been a total rainfall during the month of 11.11 inches.

From the storm period which commenced on September 17 until midnight last night the rainfall totaled 6.16 inches.

The rainfall from 9 o'clock Wednesday morning until midnight in the city was 2.95 inches. Leaves and branches of trees clogged the sewer outlets and many streets were flooded during the storm.

On Albany Avenue

Lieutenant Charles Phinney was assigned a force of 25 men to take care of conditions on Albany avenue. Nine large trees were uprooted between the railroad bridge and Manor avenue.

One large tree in front of the Miller residence was in such a dangerous condition that Lieutenant Phinney ordered it taken down. One of the city trucks was hitched to the tree which was pulled down.

Here and There

During the storm a big tree crashed through the garage of Acting Superintendent Chris Heiselman of the Board of Public Works, on Underman avenue, badly damaging Heiselman's car and also another car in the garage.

Big maples at either side of the houses of Howard R. St. John and the adjoining house occupied by Manager Cordeau of the Ward store were uprooted, but fortunately fell between the houses.

Seven large alanthus trees in the rear of the John L. Shurter garage on Prospect street were uprooted. The parked car of Stier, the furrier, was damaged by one of the trees.

Around the corner a large maple in the yard of the Franklin Apartments fell against the house of Benjamin J. Van Demark. He braced the tree and cut some of the limbs off before it crushed the house.

Opened Streets

Superintendent Heiselman had 30 trucks and 30 gang of men at work throughout the city, opening them to traffic.

Owing to the large number of trees that had been felled by the hurricane it was impossible to remove them all from the streets and they were cut up and hauled into the curbs and red lanterns placed as danger warnings.

First Damage Call

According to the police records the first call of a tree being felled was at 12:45 a.m. Wednesday afternoon when a report was received that a tree had fallen on the car of C. H. Harris of 155 Green street at Knorr's Tavern.

station on Wilbur avenue. The second call was that a tree had fallen near the corner of Fairmount avenue and Main street. This was at 5:20 o'clock that afternoon.

From then on the telephone to police headquarters rang incessantly as calls came pouring through of trees being hurled to the ground all over the city. The calls were listed as fast as received.

Buildings Shaken

During the height of the hurricane buildings were shaken all over the city. Some whose houses were jarred said this morning that if it had not been for the high wind they would have been led to believe that the city was being shaken by an earthquake.

Firemen on Duty

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy had every available man on fire duty last night. Over 15 fires of a minor nature mainly caused by live wires or short circuited wires in trees were responded to by the fire department.

Bank Building Fire

Another fire attributed directly to the storm was a slight fire in the Central Branch of the Kingston Trust Company on Broadway, at Dederick street. The wind had hurled down an electric light pole on the corner, shorting the service wire entering the building. The fire damage was slight.

A similar fire was reported at the home of Emerick Schilling at 37 Boulevard where a short circuit caused a fire in the switch box.

Theatres Affected

The local theatres were affected when the electric service was interrupted by the hurricane. At the Broadway Theatre the performance was about an hour and a half late. The show while being given was interrupted for about 20 minutes when electric service ceased, but the entire performance was given. The evening shows at the Kingston Theatre were called off when electric power was not restored at 9 o'clock.

Mayor Thanks All

Mayor C. J. Heiselman said this morning: I wish to thank the employees of the public works department, the members of the police and fire departments, the members of the American Legion, the employees of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation and New York Telephone Co. for their faithful and efficient service in the face of last night's harrowing emergency.

I also wish to thank those citizens who, in answer to our sound-truck request, heeded our warning and remained safely at home. Because everyone cooperated so well we are happy to report that no one was injured during the entire emergency. It was especially reassuring that our citizens remained cool and calm and cooperated fully with the authorities.

We should all be grateful to Clark's Radio Service. Men had to be summoned to clear away fallen trees. The telephone operators were struggling valiantly with thousands of calls and it was impossible to get through as many calls as usual. Clark's radio car, at our request and without cost to us, covered the city summoning men to the public works garage.

As it went out to request motorists and pedestrians to clear the streets on account of fallen wires and falling trees.

Every effort will be made to remove as soon as possible the trees which have been blown down and are dangerous to traffic. In this task, we urge a continuation of the cooperation of all citizens.

Although we were hard hit, we should thank God that none of our people were either killed or injured.

Holding Conference

Mayor Heiselman and city officials planned to hold a conference today in regard to what policy to take in regard to trees that were not blown down but were affected by the hurricane. These trees, while still standing are leaning badly.

To expedite removal of trees from the city street, Mayor C. J. Heiselman asked the WPA authorities in Albany for cooperation. The request was granted and now WPA workers are on the job of clearing the storm debris, under the supervision of their gang foremen, directed by the superintendent of the board of public works.

NYA Boys Assist

About 30 to 35 boys of the National Youth Administration under the direction of Supervisor Lynch were working today assisting in loading the trucks with the debris from the storm.

Carried Trees Away

All today the city trucks were removing trees that had been blown down. The trees were sawed into sizes that could be handled and then were loaded into the trucks.

Helped Light Streets

Although the streets were in total darkness during the night there was current available in the stores along Broadway, above the West Shore crossing, and many of the merchants turned on the lights in their windows to help illuminate Broadway.

In many of the business sections the stores, saloons, restaurants and hotels resorted to the use of kerosene oil lamps and candles and remained open for business.

Candles Hard to Get

Owing to the fact that many stores that handled candles closed early, householders were handicapped in obtaining candles to use for illuminating their homes.

Central Hudson officials stated later this morning that thousands of trees had been blown down in the area served by the company, making it necessary to establish patrols from all the substations to hunt for trouble.

"This means," said an official, "that it will be some time before service can be fully restored, but patrons can be assured that no efforts will be spared to restore service promptly."

Fire Patrols Here

Fire Chief Murphy last night inaugurated a system of patrols which he used to check for fire caused by the hurricane. Every available fireman was on duty and patrolled the business sections, while the men assigned to the residential sections made the tour in cars, keeping a watch for any fire that might occur.

This step was taken as the storm had caused so much damage that telephone lines all over the city were down and the telephone, in a great majority of cases, could not be used to call the firemen.

An average of 95 tons of American soil is lost each second by erosion.

Liverpool Has Romantic Touch

Geography has played an unmistakable part in shaping Liverpool's destiny. The city is situated only three miles from the Irish sea on the north bank of the tidal Mersey river, which ranges in width from a mile to three miles and extends inland far enough to provide safe anchorage for ships. King John founded the town early in the thirteenth century, but it developed slowly until America was discovered. Liverpool engaged in the slave traffic, and its bold seafarers also played an active part in the romantic days of smuggling rum, sugar and tobacco. But the port's real prosperity dates from 1840, when Samuel Cunard inaugurated regular steamship service between the Old world and the New.

Not First Dictionary

Contrary to general belief, even among scholars, Dr. Samuel Johnson's "Dictionary," which was compiled about 1750, was not the first dictionary of the English language—although it was by far the best one ever produced at that time. The first compilation of this sort, says Pearson's London Weekly, was "The English Dictionary," in 1623, by the lexicographer Henry Cockeram. Before this, in 1604, Robert Cawdrey had compiled a "Table Alphabeticall of Hard Words," but this was hardly a dictionary in the sense that Cockeram's was. Cockeram, in his dictionary, urged young writers "to acquire a learned style by looking up the simple words" they knew and to "find synonyms of such length as to astonish their readers."

ARMY AIR CHIEF DIES IN CALIFORNIA CRASH

Major General Oscar Westover, U. S. Army Air Corps chief, died in this scattered wreckage of an army plane which crashed at Burbank, Calif. The plane was circling to land when it fell and was piloted by the general himself. Sergeant Sam Hynes was also killed.

Nearly 250 Die In Severe Storm

John Wolfe to be under water. He said the loss of life was "severe." Spectators who escaped the storm's wrath told of seeing bodies in the water. Several said it would take days to investigate the inundated beach stretches and determine the full death toll. Coast Guard Commander Stephen S. Teasdale of New York estimated 50 small boats sank near Long Beach. One thousand more, he said, were swept along the southern shore. Whistling northward with unabated power, the hurricane struck Connecticut, already battered by flood, and claimed at least 12 more victims.

Burley Declares Emergency
Governor Charles F. Hurley of Massachusetts declared a fuel and food emergency, and his council approved a $25,000 flood relief appropriation. Rep. Arthur D. Eady (D., Mass.) wired an appeal to President Roosevelt and WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins for all possible federal aid. The storm paralyzed shipping in Boston Harbor, stopped railroad traffic to Montreal and tied up many of the state's highways. A tugboat, sinking in the harbor, carried seven men to death. ## Wanted: An Eye

M. O. Warner (above), blind Richmond, Va., storekeeper, is actively in the market for an eye which he wants transplanted to him. Warner wants an eye soon because the World Series is one of the first things he wants to see.

He then decided to return to Margaretville and make the return trip to Kingston either by way of Palenville or hitting the Kingston-Oneonta road a considerable distance below the flood.

As he drove toward Roxbury he found road conditions gradually growing worse, especially along the lower ground. When about five miles from Roxbury his car was suddenly stalled as the water mounted to the running board and entered the car. Unable to move his car either forward or backward as he could do was sit and wait for assistance.

Passing motorists aided in getting his car out of the flood and shoving it into Roxbury where at a garage it was dried out.

The trip toward Grand Gorge was then resumed and flood conditions were encountered all along the road. At the railroad station at Grand Gorge it was found that water was lapping around the station platform and that several hundred feet of trackage had been washed out.

Road Flooded
Efforts to get beyond Grand Gorge were futile as the road leading to Prattville was flooded and under several feet of water.

At the hotel the local man was informed that even if he reached Prattville it would be impossible to get beyond that village as many of the houses were flooded and the main highway was under water so deep that a car would be unable to plough through it.

Return to Roxbury and Margaretville was also impossible and the local man decided to drive to Stamford and see if he could not find a way to get over toward Albany and onto the Albany-Kingston road.

While the higher levels of Stamford were dry the lower end of the town, toward Oneonta was under water and it was impossible to get through. By this time the firemen in water shoulder deep fought hours to subdue a stubborn fire that blazed through a square block of business buildings in New London, historic whaling port. The damage was $1,000,000.

Coast Guard officials ordered a plane dispatched at dawn from New York to carry medical supplies to the stricken port.

The rising Connecticut river carried threat of further danger residents of Hartford, where it cut a $20,000,000 ribbon of ruin in the 1935 flood. The river was expected to rise 12 feet above flood stage by mid-afternoon.

Most of the state's storm victims met death under falling trees, roofs and buildings. Others drowned in Long Island Sound. Gov. Wilbur L. Cross dispatched National Guardsmen to aid beleaguered cities.

An exploding gas tank of 300,000 cubic feet capacity rocked the waterfront at Providence, R. I., already ravaged by high tides. Near Jamestown, R. I., a school bus carrying five or six children was reported engulfed.

The hurricane wrought extensive crop damage in New Jersey and the mainland of New York. Dozens of small craft along the Jersey shore were driven inland and shore bungalows ripped apart.

A section of a $1,000,000 bridge spanning the Hudson inlet separating Atlantic City and the island of Brigantine collapsed, mauling 2,200 people on the island.

The rains stalled trains in the Hudson & Manhattan tubes for several hours and played general havoc with New York city's complicated transportation network.

Eastern New York, struck only by the "edge" of the storm, suffered from floods and blocked highways. Clearing skies gave promise of relief.

More than 10,000 trees in Westchester, the nation's wealthiest county, were uprooted. Thirty families were driven from their homes at Mamaroneck by the Sheldrake and Mamaroneck rivers.

Chairman Samter To Call Meeting
Owing to the storm Wednesday evening the meeting of the celebration committee marking the opening of the New Highland road, the Kingston-West Hurley road, and the installation of the new street lighting system in Kingston, was postponed until later.

Chairman Morris Samter said today he was attempting to arrange a date for an early meeting of the committee so that plans for the mammoth celebration may proceed at once.

Thursday, October 6, is the date fixed for the celebration.

High Catskills Area Is Hit Hardest by Serious Floods

Flood conditions in the Catskill Mountains, caused by the heavy rains of the past several days, caused the mountain streams to overflow their banks, flooding roads and washing out considerable trackage of the Catskill Mountain Division of the New York Central railroad in the vicinity of Grand Gorge late Wednesday afternoon.

Houses in the villages of Stamford and Grand Gorge were flooded, and in some cases families were forced to flee for the night to houses on higher grounds.

Hundreds of automobile tourists through the Catskills were forced to stop for the night in hotels and tourist houses or sleep in their cars until the floods had subsided and it was safe to proceed.

Local Man's Experience
An interesting story, which can be duplicated by hundreds, was that of a local resident who was in Margaretville on Wednesday afternoon. He left that village about 4 o'clock, planning to return by way of the Kingston-Oneonta road, but had only gotten a short distance beyond Arkville when he was halted by a flood pouring over the state road.

So deep was the water over the road that it was impossible to drive through it with his auto. He then decided to return to Margaretville and make the return trip to Kingston either by way of Palenville or hitting the Kingston-Oneonta road a considerable distance below the flood.

As he drove toward Roxbury he found road conditions gradually growing worse, especially along the lower ground. When about five miles from Roxbury his car was suddenly stalled as the water mounted to the running board and entered the car. other slide near West Point halted traffic on the West Shore Railroad.

A dam near North Granville, N. Y., broke, allowing waters of a brook to flood farmlands and forcing one family to evacuate its home.

Beacon, Middletown, Newburgh, Port Jervis and Poughkeepsie all reported heavy damage from the storm. In Beacon police used rowboats to remove residents from their flooded homes.

While flood conditions were confined largely to the eastern end of the state, rivers were reported rising steadily in central New York.

Streets were flooded in Oneonta, and at Binghamton, weather observers said the Susquehanna and Chenango rivers might reach flood stage later today.

County Fruit Crop Damaged

crack flooded the lower section of the village for a time Wednesday night. High Falls also escaped the brunt of the storm and in the village the electric lights were out but a few minutes because of temporary difficulty.

At Bloomingville State Trooper Reilly reported a high wind but little damage. One tree in the Bloomingville hill two trees blocked traffic for a short time but otherwise there was but little damage.

At Milton Ed Young after an inspection of his large orchards after the storm Wednesday afternoon, reported that damage to his fruit crop was not as extensive as he had anticipated. The fact that early varieties of apples were on later varieties were not firmly attached to the trees prevented much greater damage to the fruit crop.

In several instances fruit trees were blown down and in the large orchard of Leslie Herring at Ulster Park it was reported that many young trees were blown over and would have to be replanted. Mr. Herring reported that the estimated late varieties in the vicinity of Ulster Park had suffered about 30% and where earlier varieties were unknocked the loss was almost complete.

So far as is known there were no injuries from the storm although Sheriff Molyneux was kept busy Wednesday night responding to calls for aid and in directing travelers who found themselves marooned and unable to travel the routes which were closed by fallen trees.

Families Removed At Rosendale A call was received early in the evening from residents near Rosendale who reside between the Rondout creek and the old abandoned D. & H. canal. The bridge was out and the people were marooned between the rapidly rising creek and the canal. Although in no immediate danger it was deemed wise to remove the families and the Rosendale Fire Department was sent to the scene where ladders were laid across the intervening waters and the families were aided over planks laid on the ladders.

Fallen wires and trees made travel difficult and dangerous and coming at the hour when many people were returning home from work the storm caused considerable annoyance to travelers and worry to their families. Numerous calls were received by the sheriff as to the plight of persons marooned along the road.

County Clerk James Simpson left for Phoenixia shortly after 6 o'clock and encountered many trees down. It was after 9 o'clock before he reached home after numerous stops to aid in clearing highways. At Temple's Pond a dozen trees were across the highway. From Glenford to Bolceville traffic was delayed until trees were removed. At the lower end of Temple's Pond four telephone poles and a mass of wires blocked the road and in Shokan village there was much damage. From Bolceville up damage was slight with a few trees being down near Mt. Tremper. At Phoenixia the residents reported a high wind but nothing like the hurricane which swept the lower country.

Wednesday afternoon water in the Esopus creek flooded the main highway at Bolceville near the Winne Garage and also at William Smith's below Phoenixia but there was no damage and traffic was maintained with caution in traveling the flooded areas.

Mary C. Doremus, Ulster County Children's Agent, experienced difficulty in getting to her home Wednesday afternoon and this morning when returning to the office here counted 66 trees down on the highway between the intersection of the High Falls road and the Kingston-Ellenville road to the Kenneth Davenport property. At the Dr. Hasbrouck place in Stone Ridge seven trees were reported down. Stone Ridge suffered severely from the wind.

At Mt. Marion damage was very severe and the Mt. Marion-Lake Katrine route was blocked still this morning making necessary a detour to the iron bridge in order to get to Kingston. Deputy County Clerk Clinton Finger reported that several trees were down, telephone lines and electric light wires were down and the Postal Telegraph line being completed today.

During the storm Wednesday afternoon rain fell in such quantities that many small creeks were flooded. Mombass creek went on a rampage and flooded the main Kingston-Ellenville highway for a time. High water in the Sanderkill creek in town of Rochester on the Accord-Allgerville road washed out an abutment and caused the bridge to be closed. This morning water was still going over the bridge near the John Schoonmaker farm and the bridge was reported as unsafe by Supervisor Howard Anderson. So badly was the one abutment undermined that the entire bridge swayed when a person stepped upon it.

The county highway system was reported as open to traffic with one way traffic being maintained on the River road in town of Esopus where a retaining wall washed out near the Sun Oil storage plant Wednesday. A culvert beyond the wash-out was also out.

One incident which might be considered amusing was reported. A large boarding house in the neighborhood of Mt. Marion was unable to serve hot meals this morning. The house was equipped with an all-electric kitchen.

Lucas avenue was particularly hard hit by falling trees. Corporal Norman Baker reported that the Wallkill creek had flooded the Arbuckle flats at New Paltz and the water was close to New Paltz. The water level was about a foot lower than the severe flood of three years ago. Springtown flats were flooded and traffic could not use that road. It was expected the water would drop today.

In New Paltz a score of trees were blown down but no damage to property was reported. Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein patrolled the village and surrounding territory Wednesday afternoon during the storm and reported blocked highways to the county and state highway departments. All roads were clear of trees today in that locality.

Along 9-W south of Kingston there were numerous trees down and traffic was blocked at places until the obstructions were removed. In Port Ewen three trees were blown down at the Dr. George Ross property, one large tree just missed the house as it fell. A tree fell on the Walker gas station south of Port Ewen.

Saugerties was particularly hard hit with scores of the fine trees bordering the village streets being felled by the wind. Power was off for a considerable time but power in the business section was restored by 10 o'clock although street lights were not turned on until later. On Barkley Heights the main route was blocked for some time by four trees across the highway and traffic was compelled to detour. The homes of Dr. R. W. Ball and Police Commissioner Zeigler were damaged by falling trees.

The St. Remy-Union Center road was blocked by trees until midnight. Four trees at the Greiner hotel, a tree near the town barn at Ulster Park and several trees beyond took down wires and halted traffic.

Along the Sawkill road from Route 55 to the Kingston Airport the heavy trunk line in Sal. Falls and wires were carried down. A tree was blown across Route 28, near the Sawkill road junction and at Huling's Barn trees were also down. Traffic was maintained over one way concrete until the obstructions were removed. This morning Route 28 is completely open.

One party of Kingston people who had been at Lackawack when the storm broke started for Kingston and reached Accord before difficulty was encountered. There a tree blocked the road and a detour was necessary over the back road to High Falls. From High Falls the party drove to Stone Ridge only to find the road there completely and hopelessly blocked. Retracing their steps to High Falls they attempted to reach Kingston over the Rosendale road but found the road between Rosendale and High Falls blocked. They returned to High Falls and took the Mossy Brook road along the mountain past the blockade and unable to pass through Rosendale they took the Lucas avenue route. At the Four Corners they found Lucas avenue blocked and detoured over the hill to De Witt's Lake and came in to Kingston over the Rosendale road.

Along the Rondout Valley the storm seems to have vented its fury north of that section on Route 209 where the turn-off for Krippebush joins the main highway. South of that locality no damage of consequence is reported.

In Ellenville and vicinity, while there was plenty of rain and some wind around 8 o'clock Wednesday night, neither were of a degree to attract attention, according to LeRoy Griffin, of the Marshall-Jansen garage in Ellenville. Mr. Griffin told a Freeman reporter this morning that so far as he knew there had been no storm damage in that vicinity, with the exception of a slide near the top of the mountain on Route 62. The latter was not serious and did not stop traffic. The streams in that locality, the Sandburgh and the Beerkill, were well up, but not as high as they were at the time of the last high water, some weeks since.

In Rosendale and along the Boulevard to Kingston there was no damage of any extent from wind, according to Harry V. Ten Haggen, of the Kingston Savings Bank, who said that he noticed no trees down or storm effects until he reached Kingston, in driving in from his home at Rosendale this morning.

With numerous large trees down in Old Hurley, that village was without electric light or water supply last night. The village is supplied from a reservoir, located on the height east of the village and fed from water pumped by electricity from a spring. With the failure of the electric pump the reservoir, of small capacity, soon went dry. A garage on the former Cornelius Demand place, just around the turn at the northern entrance to Hurley, was damaged when a big buttressed tree crashed into it. Not far distant two of the fine maples near the John Cottrander place went down under the fury of the wind, and opposite the post office a crashing tree missed demolishing the porch on the residence of Joseph Armistead.

Around Gardiner, the wind played havoc with orchards, tearing up 20 trees on the Floyd McKinstry farm alone. Several roofs were swept from buildings on the same place, and the chimney was blown from the house.

At the Borden creamery, the big smoke stack was blown down, and the Wallkill river in the vicinity, taxed by the heavy rain, flooded the roads, the one on the west side being impassable yet this morning, when the school bus tried to get through.

Isaac, of Hebrew Origin, Name for Many Notables

The name Isaac, of Hebrew origin, has a curious meaning—"the laughter." The Bible Isaac, son of Abraham and father of Jacob, is said to have lived to 180, writes Florence A. Cowles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Isaac I was emperor of Constantinople in the Eleventh century, and Isaac II sovereign of the East in the Twelfth century.

Isaac Walton (1693-1693), English essayist and poet, is called "the father of angling." His "Compleat Angler" appeared in five editions in his lifetime and has been published more than 100 times since his death.

Sir Isaac Newton (1642-1727), great English mathematician and natural philosopher, discovered in the fall of an apple the law of gravitation, investigated the nature of light and the laws of motion.

Rev. Isaac Watts (d. 1748) wrote hymns, also poems for children. "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," "Let Dogs Delight to Bark and Bite," etc.

Among other noted Isaacs of the past are Allerton (d. 1688) wealthy Pilgrim Father who came to America on the first voyage of the Mayflower and whose daughter, Mary, was the last survivor of the Mayflower company; Backus (d. 1695) American clergyman who advocated separation of church and state; Bickertafte (d. 1812) Irish playwright, author of "The Miller of Dee," etc.; Chaucer (d. 1400) American naval hero of the War of 1812 and later commandant of the Brooklyn Navy yard; Hull (d. 1845) American naval officer.

Babbitt (d. 1862) soap manufacturer and inventor of Babbitt metal, an alloy for which he was given a gold medal and a grant by congress; Taylor (d. 1869) American physician who suggested the hypodermic use of morphia and strychnia; Hayes (d. 1887) early Arctic explorer; Singer (d. 1875) founder of the Singer Sewing Machine company; Pitman, Sir (1813-97), inventor of the Pitman system of shorthand, and Funk (d. 1912) co-founder of the publishing firm of Funk & Wagnalls.

Gallaudet Was First to Start School for Deaf

Dr. Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, for whom Gallaudet college is named, was the first American educator to establish a school for the deaf in this country.

Born in Philadelphia on December 10, 1787, he was a tutor and a theological student, but, because of ill-health, declined a ministerial position.

Then Gallaudet became acquainted with a deaf child named Alice Cogswell and it was his interest in her education which led him to devote his life to the education of the deaf. Furnished with funds raised by Alice's father and a number of friends, he went to Europe to make a study of methods employed there.

Upon his return, relates Leslie Hartley in the Washington Star, Gallaudet, in 1817, founded at Hartford, Conn., the first free American school for the deaf and was its president until 1830. During that period he was able to train a number of men in his methods of teaching and these, in turn, became heads of similar schools all over the country.

Dr. Gallaudet married one of his pupils, Sophia Fowler. They had two sons: Thomas, who became a missionary to the deaf, and Edward Miner, who was the first superintendent of the Columbia Institution for the Deaf when it was established in Washington. The advanced department of this institution, which is the only college for the deaf in the world, is named in honor of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet.

A Roman general having agreed with Antiochus to restore him half his fleet caused each of the ships to be saved in two. The Platons having promised the Thabans to restore their prisoners, restored them after they had put them to death. Pericles, having promised to spare the lives of such of the enemy as laid down their arms, ordered all those to be killed that had from cloaks to their cloaks.—Law of Nations.

Removed White House Bathing

When Andrew Jackson was President he had a crude bathtub removed from the White House which Dolly Madison had installed there, and it was 21 years later before another one was put in. It was installed there for President Fillmore, who was noted for his neatness and his cleanly habits, and whose wife introduced the bathing practice in the executive mansion as a preventive against malaria, then prevalent in Washington.

Public school property in the United States is valued at about five and one half billion dollars.

Labor Designates Republican Slate

A complete tabulation of the vote cast by the American Labor Party at the primary election Tuesday indicates that the designation for Congress went to George W. Markey who polled 18 votes to Lewis Rockefeller's 16. Rockefeller is the Republican candidate.

Arthur H. Wick, Republican nominee, lost the endorsement by a vote of 18 to 15. Maurice J. Sullivan won that designation. Jacob Schneider was the party choice for member of assembly over J. Edward Conway, Republican nominee, by a vote of 20 to 15.

The balance of the ticket was an endorsement of the Republican nominees. Harry H. Flemming received 18 votes and Chris J. Phagan 17 for Surrogate.

Abraham F. Molyneux received 18 votes and John C. Shultz received 17. Robert Park received 18 votes for county commissioner of public welfare to 9 received by Mary L. O'Connor. Howard B. Hamilton, Republican nominee, was endorsed by a vote of 18 to 14 over Orrin M. Roberts for sewer.

Engine First to Pull a Train on a Track

Three dates are important in the history of the steam locomotive. On October 23, 1825, the first steam locomotive that actually pulled a train on a track, that built by John Stephenson, was run on a circular track at his estate at Hoboken, says a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

The first locomotive for railroad use was the "Stourbridge Lion," which was built by the George Stephenson works upon the Tyne river in England. Horatio Allen was sent to England by the Delaware & Hudson Railroad company to buy it. The engine traveled at the speed of 10 miles an hour. Its first run in the United States was on August 9, 1830, on the tracks of the Delaware & Hudson between Carbondale and Honesdale, the canal terminus in Pennsylvania.

The "Tom Thumb," designed by Peter Cooper, was the first locomotive built in the United States to pull passengers. On August 23, 1830, it carried 28 passengers 13 miles over the tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio in 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Golden Recipes for Golden Days

Many are the thoughts that fill our minds these golden days. Lengthening shadows, autumn colors, hazy atmosphere, harvest time and harvest moons bring back memories—or install within us the vagabond desire . . . new places, new faces, new foods. That's why I'm giving you some golden recipes for these golden days.

APPLE SPONGE PUDDING*

1 envelope granulated gelatine, 1/4 cup cold water, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 1/2 cups strained apple sauce, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Mix together boiling water, apple sauce, sugar, salt, lemon rind and beaten egg yolks, and cook over boiling water until mixture thickens slightly. (Use less sugar if apple sauce has been sweetened). Remove from fire. Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatine on top of water. Add to hot mixture, stir until dissolved, and add lemon juice. Cool until it begins to thicken. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and turn into mold that has been rinsed in cold water. Chill and when firm unmold and serve with whipped cream. Serves 6.

STEAMED BLUEBERRY PUDDING
1 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup triple creamed shortening, 1/2 cup stale bread crumbs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 can blueberries, drained, 1 egg, well beaten and 1/2 cup milk.

Sift together the flour, salt and baking powder, rub in the shortening, add the bread crumbs and sugar, and then stir in the blueberries. Add the well beaten egg and the milk. Turn the mixture which has been thoroughly mixed into a greased mold. Cover tightly and steam for two hours. Serve with hard sauce.

GRAPEFRUIT ICE BOX CAKE

1 1/2 cups sweetened condensed milk, 1/2 cup light corn sirup, sections of one large grapefruit, 1/2 cup fresh grapefruit juice, 1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs and 24 vanilla wafers.

Place sweetened condensed milk and corn sirup in top of double boiler. Stir constantly over boiling water about 8 minutes or until mixture thickens. Cool. Add grapefruit juice. Line narrow oblong pan with wax paper and vanilla wafers. (Fill in spaces with half of crumbs.) Cover with grapefruit juice mixture. Place grapefruit sections on top of grapefruit juice mixture; add another layer of crumbs, alternating in this way until grapefruit juice mixture is used, finishing with layer of wafers. Chill in refrigerator twelve hours or longer. To serve, turn out on small platter and carefully remove wax paper. Cut in slices and serve plain or with whipped cream. Serves 8.

MELON BALL APPETIZER

3 cups melon balls, 2 glasses beer. Cut a large honeydew melon in half. Remove seeds. Cut 3 cups or more of balls, using a vegetable scoop. Place in shallow pan. Add 1 cup beer and chill until serving time. Then place in serving glasses, add a little fresh cold beer and serve. Serves 6.

In Honor of Dogs

One of the most amusing tales that have ever been told is the story of a dog named "Buddy" who was a member of the "Buddy Club" in the city of New York. Buddy was a very clever dog and was able to do many things that were considered impossible for a dog to do. He was a member of the "Buddy Club" and was able to do many things that were considered impossible for a dog to do.

A Clean Sweep

Few homemakers ever admit that they really like to clean the house; but few can resist the temptation every so often to start from the bottom and "hoe out" as one homemaker very tersely calls it. But I think the real reason why I dread this season less than most is because I take a shopping and a magazine tour before ever I start. First, I look through the magazine for new products that will ease the operations. Then, I wander down to the grocery store and try to obtain the very best soaps, cleansers, disinfectants, rug and window cleaners, floor, furniture and silver polishes, ammonia, borax, and all the other items that will be needed including brushes, brooms, moth repellents, etc. Armed like this and with a planned program for invasion, cleaning days dampen my spirits nary a bit. Why not try this system?

HOT CHEESE DREAM

It's quick. It's easy. It's delicious. Just do this: On toast place 2 thin slices of spiced luncheon meat, sliced tomato, Bermuda onion or pickle. Cover with a thin slice of cheese and place in oven until cheese melts. That's all. A meal in itself!

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Boxing Card Looks Like Action; Pro Cage Prospects Are Dim

Sempervino in the Main Contest With Bombace on Friday

Raigins-Bunce

Both Will Box Mike Angieri Peretti Paired With Ray Robinson-Albright, Yerkes in the Prelims

Boxing fans look to the bill of bouts set for Friday night to provide plenty of action at the municipal auditorium, from the opening of the last bell in the main event between Vince Sempervino and Tony Bombace, Yorkers, to the last bout of the night.

Sempervino, the pride of Schenectady, and former champ of the Hawaiian Islands, faces a much heavier Bombace, a product of the Catholic Boys Club of Yonkers, which has turned out a host of Golden Glovers.

"If you think Mike Angieri is Sempervino a battle, wait'll you see this Bombace," said George Gairford, who recommended him although the scrap is not in his stable.

"I always admire a good fighter, regardless of his training affiliations," said Gairford, "and I must say I like Tony a lot."

Last week, Sempervino had his hands full with Angieri, some of the best being of the opinion that the little New Yorker won the decision. Mike will be back this Friday, boxing Carmine Fatta of Newburgh.

"If he makes the lightweight class, I'll take him on," said the little Billy City better who has run up five straight wins, taking over the best in the state, and, in fact, in the country because Steve Eikel, national lightweight champ from Binghamton, was among the pugilists he defeated.

Angieri promised to cut four pounds from his avoirdupois to go down to Fatta's weight class. The battle between these two is expected to be what the enthusiasts of the leather stitching sport call a "money."

Other matches will bring together Dom Peretti, Diamond Belt champ from Amsterdam, vs. Ray Robinson, New York bantam, Moogy Marchese, Schenectady lightweight, vs. Erwin Carroll of New York, Charlie Raigins, Saugerties Bomber, vs. Hank Bunce, Kingston lightweight, in a return scrap for Bunce to get a chance to even the score, Frankie Albright, local featherweight, vs. Tommy Aposporos, Poughkeepsie Greek; Sam Yerkes vs. Johnny Leffer of Albany.

Starting time is 9 o'clock.

Mercantile Loop Lists 24 Teams

Secretary Harry Hutton of the Mercantile Bowling League today reported that the organization will get under way with its scheduled early in October, 24 teams being signed at the meeting last night.

On October 5, the International division will start its slate of games and on the nights following, the National and American divisions will roll. International matches will be on Wednesdays, National on Thursdays and American, Fridays.

Yellow Jackets Work Out Tonight

The Yellow Jackets will hold practice this evening on the Athletic Field at 6 o'clock, and Gus Seigler will request all of his players to be at the workout. Gus called today as the sun came out for the first this week, and as he heard encouraging words concerning the backing for the Jackets.

Greenberg Hits 54; Yanks Lose

By RED FIDDER Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates "ark" was the one boat afloat the rains couldn't hurt. Even if it kept raining the figurative 40 days and 40 nights until the National League season ends, "Noah" Traynor and the collection of diamond life he has on the ark would bounce onto the world series "Ararat" anyway.

Every game rained out in the first division this week—and there has been a record number of 14 of them—can be marked down in the Buc's victory column, for if they don't play they can't lose.

When the second-place Cubs and third-place Reds, 3½ and 5 games back, respectively, are the victims, they can't win—and so have no chance to catch up with the Pirates.

Even if the Cubs don't lose another game, the Bucs can still afford to drop three of 12. Here's the picture:

	W	L	Pct	GB	GP
Pittsburgh	81	57	.587	—	138
Chicago	78	61	.561	2½	138
Cincinnati	76	62	.551	3	138
New York	75	64	.540	4	138

There's been only one National League tilt since Sunday and that one saw Paul Dean, in his second comeback start for the Cardinals, pitch a seven-hitter to blank the Boston Braves, 4-0, yesterday.

The Yankees who have been more champs than champs since they sewed up the American League pennant, stretched their losing streak to six games in kicking away a 5-2 decision to the Chicago White Sox. Three errors gave the Sox their runs (all unearned).

Hank Greenberg remained three games in front of Babe Ruth's record 1927 home run pace by clouting his No. 54 for the year as the Tigers trounced the Athletics twice, 8-6 and 3-0.

Jimmy Fox's 47th four-bagger paced the Boston Red Sox to an 8-4 margin over the Browns.

12 Teams Signed In City Bowling League This Year

At the City Bowling League meeting Wednesday night in the Y. M. C. A., 12 teams registered to compete in the loop this season, President Tom Morrissey said today.

He indicated that the league would use the Shaughnessy system rolling two complete rounds of 40 games. At the end of the second, the six teams comprising the first division will roll a round robin, as will the six teams in the second. Winner of the roll-off in the second division will be awarded a special prize by the league.

New teams in the loop are Downtown Merchants, Hercules and Schneider Jewelers. The full membership includes Flanagan's, Colonials, Livingstons, Immanuel's, Y. M. C. A., St. Peter's, Central Hudson, Jack's Jarage, Schneiders, Downtown Merchants, Hercules and the Unknown Five, which will procure a name by Monday afternoon.

The official schedule will be arranged by President Morrissey's committee, composed of Secretary Peter Brock, Peter Kerenman, Charles Tiano and Walter May.

Have Quarter Days
Quarter days in England and Scotland are quite different. England has Lady Day, March 25; Midsummer, June 24; Michaelmas, September 29; and Christmas, December 25. In Scotland the quarter days are Candlemas, February 2; Whit Sunday, May 13; Lammas, August 1; and Martinmas, November 11.

Win 1st Series Game

The victorious Kyanize baseball-tossers, winners of the sensational first City League championship play-off tilt by a 4-2 margin last Sunday, will oppose the Knights with the following roster: Stand-

Knights Line Up for Battle

Vanquished 4-2 in last week's thriller, the Knights of Columbus diamond array will attempt to turn the tables on the Kyanize in the second game of Kingston's "Little World Series" Sunday. Lining up

High School Gridders Battle Hard for Varsity Positions

Driven off the Athletic Field by the heavy rains this week, Coach G. Warren Kias took his footballers into Kingston High School gymnasium Wednesday afternoon to run through formations.

At the conclusion of the workout, Kias held scull practice, explaining the various plays the Maroon and White will use this fall.

"The boys grasp the plays readily, which is one reason for an optimistic outlook," said the coach who must build up his grid machine which was wrecked by graduation. With such stars as Tommy Malnes, Ray Schneider, Dick Decker, Bill Messinger and Jack Halstein lost by the diploma route, Kias has a mean job on his hands.

"Every man is looking for a berth on the first string club," said the coach, "and no man will be sure of his job until the first game and probably not until after that. This means, of course, that all of the gridders are fighting hard."

According to reports, backfielders who look like good bets are Vince Stoll, Ken Douglas, Jay De Witt, Jim Ashdown and Ed Esposito, also George Celuch, who is making his debut as a pigskin.

The same story applies for the forward wall. Joe Clark, the dusky wingman and Bill Von Essen appear to be fitted for a complete season at the end posts. Others who seem destined for line positions are Joe Garland, Jack Cook, Bill Studer, Bill Powers, Irv Rose and Andy Murphy. All of these players have been playing exceedingly well during scrimmages.

Other Schools
While Coach Kias and his assistants, Ed Sylvester and Al Bruckert have been supervising the local cohorts, reports from other DUSO Schools are pouring in and as is the case in Kingston, other teams have been smacked hard by graduation or ineligibility.

Down in Port Jervis Coach Chase and his Red Raiders are blessed with six lettermen who will be the nucleus for the forthcoming season. Last year the Chasemen fought so stubbornly that they completed a three-way fight for the loop's honors and if Chase can obtain a few more luminaries from his material, it would do well to watch Port's fight for the title. Lester Crine, Paul Freytag, Frank Seiber, Nick Pedorka (yes, one of those famous Pedorka boys), Ned Quinn and Jim Barbario are the men who are returning to make it unpleasant for other teams. Crine, Freytag, Seiber and Pedorka are linemen, Quinn and Barbario do the secondary chores. Port is to be reckoned with.

Newburgh Makeup
Newburgh has been hit on the chin by graduation and the new eligibility rule. Ed Plus, ace end and Bill Smith were forced out by the new ruling. The Academy-nites also lost Stuey Dope, Pete Fornal, Elito Politi, Jim Donnelly, Clay Purcell, Ed Griffin, Joe Maniscalco, Carfora, Coramboli and Benigno. Howie Havens will be out for the entire season due to an injury suffered last year.

Although Coach Bill Elder will miss these men he will have Charlie Fornal, Angelo Janotto, Bob Ruckdeschel, John Thomas, Frank Rosinski and Tony Woska.

In a spirited comeback for DUSO League prestige Bill Elder has a number of promising recruits up from last year's Jayvee squad, namely Butch Lawlor, Bob Cote, Ed Tangal, Blk Denton, Ballwet, Merritt, Taylor, Ben Gillespie.

Middletown has failed to report so far but the Hughesmen are again expected to toss a team on the field which will perform in satisfactory fashion. Last year 90 men reported while in '36 110 players answered Hughes' call.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT
(By The Associated Press)
Montreal—Dick Shikat, 230, Philadelphia, defeated Karl Davis, 233, Memphis, Tenn., two straight falls.

Joneses Bowl Sunday Against Monticello in Hudson League
Competing in the Hudson Valley Bowling League for the fifth season in succession, the Jones Dairy regiers of Kingston will start its 1938-'39 alley campaign rolling against Monticello at that place Sunday. A week from Sunday the Milkmen will be hosts to Port Jervis at Emerick's.

To strengthen his club, Addison Jones has signed two new players, Charles Tiano and Bob Hanley in addition to his string of Captain Ken Williams, Freddie Rice, Randy Kelder, Ed Sampson, Al Kleffer, Pete Keresman and himself.

There are 16 teams in the league again this season, the Walden Grills heading the list as defending champions.

Schedule this week-end:
Sunday, September 25
Jones Dairy at Monticello, State Hospital at Port Jervis, Grasseys, 8 p. m.
Firthcliffe at Newburgh Rays, Liberty at Walden Grills, Walden Socials at Highland Falls.
Newburgh Doelgers at Firth Carpets.
Port Jervis at Middletown Collegians, 8 p. m.
Ellenville at Hospital Crocenois, 8 p. m.

Kelly's Corner

Schatzel Still Spins 'Em—Jackets' Prospects Bright

By Joe Kelly

Jack Schatzel of the old Swamp Angels insists he pitched a game of ball without a catcher. . . . "We used a big rubber mat," he said, without cracking a smile, "and it bounced the ball back to me every time." . . . Jack added that it took only 45 minutes for the game. . . . If Jack had his big straw lid on, we'd have sworn he was talking through it. . . . But, he crossed his heart. . . . So how can a guy doubt him. . . . Ed Banks, City Baseball League treasurer, anticipates an overflow crowd next Sunday. . . . He's ordered 1,000 additional tickets for the second series game. . . . Nothing like having enough, eh Ed? . . . Cas Lukaa has finished his swimming for the season, but The Great Mel keeps going on and on.

President John J. O'Brien would rather see the Visitation in Kingston than Brooklyn. . . . At least, that's what we gathered from his conversation yesterday. . . . "League officials were never in favor of conditions at Prospect Hall," he said. . . . Joe Belcher, Port Ewen Garage prop, can still call off the addresses and "phone numbers of the American League cage managers. . . . And he's been out of the reporting business for more than 10 years. . . . Gus Steiglerwald is praying for clearer weather so his Yellow Jackets can get going. . . . A new football is the first piece of equipment the Wangs acquired this season. . . . Prospects are bright for backing at present. . . . At Melville's training schedule continues at the Y. M. C. A. in preparation for his swim Sunday. . . . Don't those Knights round with a four and three victory over Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I. Patty encountered the slender Ohioan. At the end of the first nine holes, Patty was four down.

Suddenly regaining her putting form, Patty started sweeping birdies and pars all over the course on the back nine. At the 37th she bounced into the lead, one up, and stayed there. She had overcome a tremendous handicap that will not soon be forgotten.

The marvelous miss from Minneapolis promises to explode the fireworks again against hunky Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, in what probably will be the best of the afternoon's quarter final contests.

Wild mushrooms have caused the death of 22 persons within a fortnight in the united provinces of India.

Page, Berg in Two-Gal Show

Chicago, Sept. 22 (UP)—A miss and a matron, with contrasting personalities seemed destined today to turn the battle for the national women's golf championship into a strictly two gal show.

They are Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, 31-year-old housewife, of Chapel Hill, N. C., defending champion, and Patty Berg of Minneapolis. Both won their second and third rounds yesterday. Mrs. Page swept aside Helen Watershouse of Warwick, R. I., two and one, and then turned in a four and three victory over Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex.

It remained for Miss Berg to stage a dramatic rally that thrilled a gallery of hundreds. She conquered a 20-year-old blonde coed of Massillon, Ohio, named Eva Shorb.

After advancing to the third round with a four and three victory over Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I. Patty encountered the slender Ohioan. At the end of the first nine holes, Patty was four down.

Suddenly regaining her putting form, Patty started sweeping birdies and pars all over the course on the back nine. At the 37th she bounced into the lead, one up, and stayed there. She had overcome a tremendous handicap that will not soon be forgotten.

IN COUNTY GRANGES

Pomona Grange Official Report

The regular September meeting of the Ulster County Pomona Grange was held at the Rosendale Grange Hall. The worthy Pomona Master Albert Kurdt opened the meeting in the Fifth Degree. The opening song, "Beautiful Grange," was sung by all.

Owing to the absence of the assistant steward and the lady assistant steward, Brother Percy Gaslay and Sister Ruth TerBush were appointed to fill the positions.

The following patrons were elected as delegates to the state Grange meeting to be held at Jamestown in December: Sister Helen Kent of Milton Grange, Brother Percy Gaslay of Patroon Grange, Sister Edna Solbjor of Plattekill Grange, and Brother Edmund Osterhoudt of Lake Katrine Grange.

The worthy secretary, Sister Mary B. Brink, read the reports from the following Granges: Huguenot Grange No. 1028 reported having added three new members. They held a supper for the Revolving Scholarship Fund and because of its huge success were awarded second prize, a coffee maker. The service and hospitality committee offered to pay the difference between the coffee maker and an electric stove so that they may have a stove. Grange at Washingtonville were guests of Huguenot Grange on June 18.

On July 9 Brother and Sister Clark of Milton and Brother DuMond of Ulster Grange were guests of Huguenot Grange. Four traveling baskets which were sent out among the Grange members have been returned with fine contributions in each.

Rosendale Grange No. 1501 reported having visited Clintonville, Patroon and Stone Ridge Granges. Several members gave a drill. Held the gingerbread contest, presented one number on the program at Highland Grange hall and had a booth at the County Fair.

Asbury Grange No. 1408 had an exhibit at the County Fair and held a picnic at North Lake. Milton-on-Hudson Grange No. 884 reported interesting meetings. The service and hospitality committee installed an electric hot water heater in the hall. Had an exhibit at the County Fair.

Ulster Grange No. 969 reported having initiated a class of 20 candidates in the 3rd and 4th degrees, with Clintonville Grange degree given in November. Members of Rosendale, New Paltz and Patroon Granges were present at "Neighbor's Night."

Homowack Grange, No. 356, reported members of Plattekill Grange visited them in June. Homowack Grange revised by-laws so as to have their meeting nights on the second and fourth Tuesdays.

Lake Katrine Grange, No. 1055, reported four new members added to their roll. Have active S. and H. committee who cleaned the hall, held a plant sale and sent flowers and fruit to the sick members. Annual picnic was held at the farm of Brother and Sister Lyke. Had a booth at the County Fair and won second prize.

A special county wide meeting is to be held in November. Worthy Master Kurdt and Worthy Deputy Story are the committee in charge. Details will be given later.

Brother I. C. Barnes, the worthy overseer and County Fair chairman, reported for the County Fair and said this year's fair as a real agricultural fair and a business enterprise was a big success. He also said all the exhibits were fine and the Grange exhibits particularly good.

Worthy Master Kurdt thanked all the department heads and everyone who helped for their fine cooperation. It was voted that each Grange appoint a legislative committee of three to meet in a county group to make recommendations to Pomona.

The county committee will hold its first meeting at the Farm Bureau office on John street, Kingston, Thursday evening, November 3, at 8 o'clock. Brothers Earl Minshier and Don Morehouse were appointed on the applications committee.

Sister Bell, chairman, and Brother William Cotton and Sister Mary O'Connor, were appointed on the finance committee. Sister Dorothy Sims, the worthy Pomona lecturer, announced the annual harvest festival and prize speaking contest will be held at the Highland Grange Hall, October 6.

"Booster Night" may be held any night during the week preceding September 30. Ulster county is included in the Pomona broadcasts over WGY and Brother Sherwood, state steward, is to be Ulster county's speaker on October 1.

Sister Lillian Klein, chairman of the Pomona S. and H. Committee, was unable to attend and her report was read by Sister Graham. The collections for the Revolving Scholarship Fund taken at the "Constitution Meetings" was $90.78. At the Talent Festival the amount was $17.08. The proceeds from the "Rolled Wheat Suppers" were $105.38. Sister Klein thanked all who helped with the "Gingerbread Contest" and all who sent and helped get recipes for the cook book.

The Pomona "Gingerbread Contest" was held with the following results: Sister Mary Hoff of Asbury Grange, first; Sister Buehly Myers of Rosendale Grange, second; and Sister Eula LeRoy of Homowack Grange, third. Sister Hoff will enter the state contest to be held at the State Grange meeting at Jamestown in December.

The following worthy deputies were present and brought greetings from their respective counties: Brother Harry Bull of Orange county, Brother R. M. Stanton of Albany county, Brother Wittaker of Sullivan county, and Brother Coons of Dutchess county.

After a delicious dinner served by the ladies of Rosendale Grange the business of the day was resumed. Worthy Master Kurdt opened the meeting in the Fifth Degree.

The worthy deputy of Ulster county, Brother Harold Story, welcomed all Ulster county patrons and the honored guests from other counties. Brother Story in his report said that an inter-county meeting would be held at the Highland Grange Hall on the afternoon and evening of October 30, to exemplify the working of the degrees. Putnam county will have charge of the First Degree; Orange county the Second Degree; Ulster county the Third Degree; and Sullivan county the Fourth Degree. All patrons are urged to attend.

The worthy deputy said he had visited all but two Granges, but hoped to visit them soon. A net gain of 81 members was made since June. In scoring the Granges the following per cents were given: Highland, 81.2; Homowack, 84.2-3; Asbury, 83; Plattekill, 81.3; Lake Katrine, 81.4; Clintonville, 81.4; Patroon, 80.4; Huguenot, 79; Milton, 75.4; Stone Ridge, 72.4; Rosendale, 72, and Ulster, 70.

Brother R. M. Stanton spoke on Grange Fire Insurance and urged Ulster county to take the matter up. He said one-third of fire insurance cost is due to defective wiring and bad light sockets.

The following candidates were initiated in full form in the fifth degree by a very efficient degree team under the leadership of Brother Percy Gaslay, as assistant steward, and Sister Elizabeth Schoonmaker as lady assistant steward: Clarence Johnson and Florence A. Johnson of Lake Katrine Grange; Aaron Bell, Norma D. Cooklin and Hazel M. Conklin of Patroon Grange; Lena Behland, Clinton Van Noodall, Mrs. Walter Parndies, Helen Weep and Hazel Freer, of Rosendale Grange; and Charles Graham, Croswell S. Sholey, Lela Elmsdorf and Jennie DePay of Stone Ridge Grange.

The following members constitute the Pomona degree team: Master, I. C. Barnes; overseer, Howard Mackay; lecturer, Anna Minshier; chaplain, Ross Osterhoudt; steward, William Cotton; assistant steward, Percy Gaslay; treasurer, Earl Klotz; secretary, Dorothy Sims; Ceres, Lila Molten-Lauer; Pomona, Evelyn Kennedy, and Flora, Margretta Hotelling.

Worthy Pomona Master Kurdt thanked the degree team for its beautiful drill and splendid work and the cooperation and effort put forth by all the members of the team.

After a short program, during which the "Book of the Constitution" was given to the Worthy Pomona Lecturer, Sister Dorothy Sims, by the worthy lecturer of Homowack Grange, Sister Ruth TerBush, the meeting closed in due form to meet again in December at the Plattekill Grange Hall.

Invitations were accepted to meet at Lake Katrine in March, 1939; Asbury in June, 1939; Highland in September, 1939; and Rosendale in December, 1939.

It was voted to extend an invitation to the New York State Grange to hold its 1939 session in Kingston.

Lion Dog of China Name

Given to the Pekingese

The Pekingese was known for hundreds of years as the Lion dog of China. He is to be seen in paintings, ceramics, bronzes, and richly colored textiles, adorning fans and boxes and gongs. He is an artistic inspiration, a symbol of religion and rule, an animal revered in the Purple Forbidden city even more than the sacred cat in ancient Egypt.

We can conceive no resemblance between a Pekingese and a lion, observes a writer in the Chambers' Journal. Such a conception seems absurd. It is absurd except to the imaginative mind of the Chinese, who, anxious to confer every possible and impossible honor upon that dog, went so far as to associate him with the king of beasts.

Pekingese dogs lived in the Forbidden city. Eunuchs fed, washed and exercised them.

It was at one time the custom in China to kill unwanted female babies, and some of the unfortunate mothers were compelled to suckle Pekingese puppies. Is it more fancy that makes many lovers of that breed claim to see something human in the Pekingese?

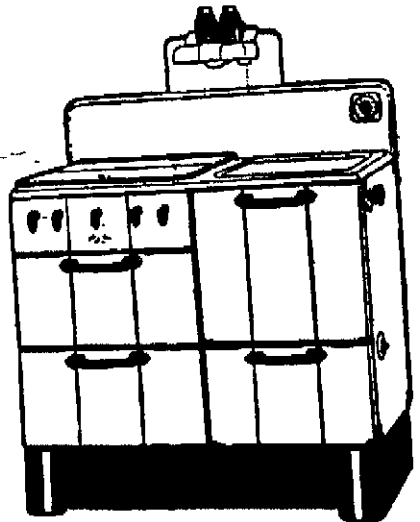

Mud Skipper, Land Fish

The mud skipper, or bommi, actually spends most of its time on land. These strange creatures are found in Asia, Africa and Australia. They stay in the water only when breeding; once matured, they live on the warm sand, or even climb the mangrove trees. Their breast fins are almost arms, the extremities having webbed fingers which facilitate walking and climbing. The fish's prominent eyes are set high on the head and can focus in almost any direction.

Area of Dominion of Canada

The area of the Dominion of Canada is greater than that of continental United States. The area of United States proper is 3,028,790 square miles, while that of the Dominion of Canada is 3,729,685 square miles. United States proper and Alaska have an area of 3,617,675 square miles. Thus it will be seen that the Dominion of Canada has a greater area than the combined area of the United States proper and Alaska.

Many Mountains in Vermont

In the comparatively small state of Vermont there are more than 900 mountains with summits 2,000 feet or more above the sea. Many of these mountains are accessible by motor, notably Mt. Mansfield, highest in the state. From this lofty peak, 4,393 feet high, views of the Green mountain range may be enjoyed. Lake Champlain, 30 miles away in New York state, is clearly in view for much of its expanse.

Legion Beauty

Miss Dorcas Stewart, 19, (above) of Hollywood, Calif., was crowned "Miss American Beauty 1938" in a contest sponsored by the American Legion at its 30th annual convention in Los Angeles.

IT'S Fall

The season of beauty. The season when mother nature paints her most beautiful pictures... the gorgeous coloring of autumn leaves... Jack Frost's incomparable etchings on your windows... blue skies... brisk winds... bright sun... all those things which make fall everyone's favorite season... BUT... this beautiful fall will pass... these exquisite colorings, the thrills of this exhilarating season will be gone with winter's first freezing blast, to be forgotten until another year.

JEWELRY is not as fickle as the seasons. The beauty of Jewelry remains forever... the fire of a dazzling diamond... the multiple colors of an opal, or others in the family of precious stones... the grandeur of finely smithed silver or the warm glow of gold — all these are yours forever in the body of FINE JEWELRY.
